LARGE CROWD HEARS EVANGELINE BOOTH

MYSTERY SHROUDS DEATH

Mystery thickened about the strange death of attractive, artistic Starr Faithfull (above), 25, whose body was washed ashore at Long Beach, L. I., following the report of the medical examiner that the girl's death was caused by drowning. The victim's stepfather, Stanley E. Faithfull, wealthy New York chemical manufacturer, believes Starr did not commit suicide or meet her fete by accident, as she was an expert swimmer. Miss Faithfull had been missing from her home three days before her body was found. Foul play is feared.

NEW YORK, June 11—Claiming he had enough evidence to ask grand jury indictments for murder, District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards of Nassau county insisted today two men beat Starr Faithful, beautiful New York heiress into unconsciousness and then drowned her.

He said he would give descriptions of the two men to police today and planned to go before the grand jury possibly tomorrow.

Abandon Hope Of Saving Trapped Submarine Crew

Hope Wanes That Eighteen Aboard Sunken British Sub Will Be Rescued

DIVERS FAIL TO GET RESPONSES

Third Lung Apparatus Device Only Hopes For Trapped Victims

By CARROLL P. LUNT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, June, 11.—Hope of rescuing the eighteen men entombed in the sunken submarine Poseidon 120 feet under water in the Yellow Sea was virtually abandoned today when rescue ships failed, despite franctic efforts, to establish contact with the wreck.

Admiralty divers who descended to the submarine were unable to attach rescue apparatus to it and reported that they heard no response to their signals to the prisoners. Their repeated rappings of Morse Code letters on the side of the submarine brought no response.

A message from the aircraft carrier Hermes at the scene of the disaster denied reports that divers had heard signals from a compartment containing eight of the men saying that they were still alive.

Americans Aid

The American submarine salvage vessel Pigeon, equipped with special rescue apparatus, hastened from Tsingtao to help the British cruisers Berwick and Cumberland, the destroyer Storm Cloud, the sloop Marathon and the tug St. Broeck at the scene of the accident.

The only hope of the doomed men lay in the use of the Davis Third Lung apparatus with which British submarines were recently equippped. This is a combination life belt and oxygen mask. If the mask is attached to the big submarine oxygen tanks the user may succeed in living a long time.

Forty five minutes after the Poseidon was rammed by the Yuta, four men came up in these newly-invented life belts. The submarine sank within two minutes after the accident and thirty-one members of the crew saved their lives by jumping overboard. These were picked up by the Yuta.

PITTSBURGH, June 11—State police and sheriff's deputies today mainted a close guard around the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company near New Kensington, where three striking coal miners were shot in an altercation with deputies yesterday.

Those wounded, Andrew Janus, 39, Martin Savo, 42, and Walter Yablisk, 48, were recovering at their homes today after receiving treatment for buckshot abrasions at the citizens General Hospital in New Kensington.

COUNTY CONVENTION OPENS AT CATHEDRAL

Lawrence County Sabbath School Workers Are In Session

Resolutions Are Presented At Session This Afternoon—Officers Named

Registration at the Cathedral this morning was heavier than usual when the representatives of the various Sunday schools in the county gathered for the 93rd annual Lawrence County Sabbath School Association convention.

Owing to the late arrival of Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, and her party, from Rochester, it was impossible for Miss Booth to appear at the morning session as announced.

Robert M. Strickler, Jr., president of the association, presided at the morning session. John W. Owens directed the music, with Mrs. Jay L. Reed at the organ and Miss Elizabeth Owens at the piano.

The devotional praise service was conducted by Rev. Margaret Joshua after which reports were heard from the campers, the secretary and different department workers.

Miss Lillian E. Reed of Philadelphia, Children's Division superintendent of the State Sabbath School association gave a splendid address on the work being carried on in the junior departments of the Sabbath schools about the state and she had some helpful suggestions to offer the workers in these departments.

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—The City of New Castle today continued its legal fight to oust the Harmony Electric interests from its environs when it summoned an array of witnesses to testify at a Public Service Commission hearing that the temporary motor freight service now furnished by the Harmony Short Line motor transportation between Pittsburgh, New Castle, Beaver Falls and Ellwood City is unnecessary.

The freight line is being operated at the present time under a temporary certificate granted by the commission. Application for the permanent certificate brought protests from the City of New Castle, the boroughs of Ellwood City and Koppel and several other carriers including the Beaver Valley Service Company.

Witnesses for the city, testifying under the direction of City Solicitor Robert White, told Commissioner Young that the present freight service provided by the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroads, provided,

NESHANNOCK TOWNSHIP SCHOOL BOARD CASE BEFORE COURT AT STATE CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 11.—President Judge William Hargest took under advisement an equity suit filed by the Commonwealth in Dauphin county court here against the school board of Neshannock township, Lawrence county, in which the Commonwealth seeks to recover $16,433.19 from the board.

That sum, the Commonwealth claims, is due the state school employees retirement fund on bonds of the school district now held by the Commonwealth and payment of which has been refused by the school directors.

The board, upholding its refusal to pay the bonds, claimed the bonds were illegally issued in 1925 inasmuch as the district was already indebted up to 2 per cent of the assessed valuation of property in the township. Under state law, attorneys for the school directors held, indebtedness above that limit is illegal unless approved by the voters of the district and the bonds in dispute were not approved in an election.

A jury trial was waived by both sides and after hearing arguments, Judge Hargest announced he would hold the case under advisement. He indicated a decision would not be handed down for some time.

Collapses At Husband's Funeral; Dies Several Hours Later In Hospital

Hrs. Helen Hendricks Barr, Of California, Passes Away At Grove City

New Castle People Are Present At Samuel Barr's Funeral When Wife Was Stricken

Several hours after collapsing at her husband's funeral, Mrs. Helen Hendricks Barr, of Pasadena, California, died in the Grove City hospital, Wednesday evening.

Her death comes as a distinct shock to her many friends and relatives in Grove City and New Castle. A number of New Castle people were in attendance at the funeral services of Mrs. Barr's husband, Samuel P. Barr at Grove City Wednesday afternoon.

Shortly after the services commenced, Mrs. Barr collapsed. She was taken to the Grove City hospital, but her friends had no idea of the seriousness of her condition. She passed away at 7:15 p. m. not quite five hours after the funeral services.

Mrs. Barr, who was a former resident of Grove City and a graduate nurse, had accompanied the body of her husband from Pasadena, where he had passed away on June 3, following a lingering illness. Mr. Barr had for years been a prominent business man of Grove City. Since 1915 they had been living in California.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Barr will be announced later, pending arrival of her sister from Pasadena.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 11.—Out here in Los Angeles it was suddenly, the other day, brought to public attention that when school was out children that had been given their lunch because their parents couldn't afford it would be without it.

Well, the response by everybody was wonderful, but you know that's a situation that's liable to exist in a lot of towns. They might just forget that because school was out there was no reason to keep up the lunches and there is not a town or city that won't gladly do it.

People are marvelous in their generosity if they just know the cause is there. So just in case your town might have overlooked it, out here it was the parent-teachers that did it. Some towns might not have that.

Yours,

Will Rogers.

Jessie Crooks, New Castle, Nominated By Daughters Of Union Veterans

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., June 11.—Election of Charles F. Aument, Lancaster, as department commander of the Sons of Union Veterans was forecast here today as business sessions of the 65th annual G. A. R. encampment and allied organizations continued toward a close.

Before the convention closes, leaders decided, a resolution calling on all county commissioners of the state to purchase flags for graves of veterans of all wars will be passed upon.

Routine business was all that lay before the sessions today. The Daughters of Union Veterans nominated Jessie Crooks, New Castle and Lydia Seymour, Wilkes-Barre, for presidency of the organization and today will name one to the office. Other officers of the auxiliary order will also be chosen today.

The big event of the encampment, annual parade of all organizations participating, was past. The few remaining civil war veterans marched but one block in the procession and viewed the rest of the parade from a reviewing stand.

There are times when human tempers lose their calm serene repose, when red rage replaces reason, when no ease is found in tears, its time in any household that produces hectic scenes, its the day when Pa is ordered to put in the summer screens. Now the winter may have warped them and they will not fit the slot, and the day is warm and sultry and Pa rapidly gets hot. Then he drives them with a hammer and his thumb gets in the line, and his language when he does it, is descriptive if not fine. All is woe and all is chaos when the screens must be put up and there is no peace for mother, nor the family, nor the pup, for it brings on cerebrations that turn golden tresses gray, when the screens go in for summer, weather's eighty four today.

DeGraff Emulates Canadian Mounted; Gets Man At Last

Militant Constable Ends Long Search For Man Who Escaped Him Before

Like the far-famed Canadian Royal Mounted, who always "get their man", Constable DeGraff W. Robinson, who works out of the office of Alderman Walter T. Hamilton, is known to work diligently on a case until he makes an arrest.

So when one John E. Glazier, on whom the constable prepared to serve a warrant last fall on a charge of assault and battery and surety of the peace, escaped in a tussle on East Washington street, DeGraff continued to be on the alert for his man.

According to the constable, the information against Glazier was made out before Alderman Hamilton by Mrs. Lottie Shoaff of this city.

Glazier, according to authorities, is known by names of "Galon", "Galona", "Gaglione", etc., and since the escape from Robinson had been in Ohio, it is reported.

The escape itself had been a masterful one in itself, according to the constable. The man sought on the assault and battery warrant was shouldered by the constable. Glazier did the old get away trick by getting out of the rain slicker he was wearing. Then the constable grabbed him on the collar of his coat, and Glazier repeated his act in the manner of a veteran.

With this knowledge in mind DeGraff was prepared for Glazier when tipped off last night that Glazier was in this city.

Accompanied by Constable John W. Miller of the fifth ward he went to Raymond street where it was reported the man they were seeking would be found.

In order to make the arrest, the constables report, they had to break down the rear door of the house.

Glazier was taken before Alderman Hamilton and later lodged in county jail to await a hearing at 4 p. m. today before the same alderman.

prominent politician" he had named as one of the girl's killers was practically eliminated from the investigation.

Diary Is Found

Miss Faithful, 25, step-daughter of Stanley Faithful, New York and Boston manufacturing chemist, disappeared from her Greenwich Village home on Friday. Her body was found off Long Beach on Monday.

A diary of the dead girl, which Stanley Faithful at first said "was no longer in existence" has been found by Edwards. The official said the girl's diary "strengthened the theory of murder."

Entries and names in the diary which Edwards carefully guarded, will lead to the capture of her slayers, Edwards said he believed.

Edwards also cabled Scotland Yard to obtain a statement from Dr. G. Jameson Carr, ship's surgeon on the liner Franconia. He also asked for statements from the captain and stewards of the Franconia.

Miss Faithful visited the Franconia May 29 to bid goodbye to her friend, Dr. Carr, it was learned. The slain girl told her parents she had two cocktails while on the liner but Edwards said he was informed she was taken off the Franconia in midstream as it left New York and was intoxicated.

Scotland Yard Interested

London, June 11.—Scotland Yard, Britain's famous organization for the tracking down and prosecution of criminals, took active measures today to aid in solving the mysterious slaying of Miss Starr Faithful, New York heiress whose body was washed up on a Long Island beach a few days ago.

Preparations were made to question officers of the Cunard liner Franconia, from which the murdered girl was put off in the outer harbor of New York shortly after the vessel sailed for England on May 29.

Dirt highways in Scott township are being worked by residents of the township. The road which leads from the end of the slag road from Perry highway to the Slippery Rock was dragged and crowned yesterday and was improved.

Pa Newc observed that there was a very large crowd on the Public Square and South Jefferson street to greet Commander-in-Chief Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army. Chief of police had an extra number of police conducting traffic.

Speedy Rogers and his pals have again taken up their camp on a road near the Y. M. C. A. camp, beyond Harlansburg. Yesterday they fished, played mushball and pitched horseshoes. Annually the boys pitch their camp on the bank of the Slippery Rock.

Only a few days remain until the municipal playgrounds open and thousands of mothers will feel at ease, knowing that their little children are at play in safety. The recreation board has named teachers and Nicholas Casella will have charge of the playground activities.

Although the first half of June has not yet arrived, some farmers have commenced to harvest hay. Several fields along the Harlansburg road have already been cut. In some gardens the tomato plants are showing blossoms. It also looks like a good year for plums.

Members of the state highway patrol, three in number, stationed here, patrolled the various improved highways last night and in some instances stopped automobiles on the New Bedford-New Castle highway last night. Drivers were compelled to show their operator's licenses.

Later the family revealed that the girl had gone to the home of a school friend in Lynnfield, Mass. The servants who were the lone occupants of the estate in Warwick Neck, became alarmed when Miss Aldrich failed to appear and had not made known her destination.

Several rescue ships, including the American Naval Ship Pigeon, have been making frantic efforts to reach the trapped men, but have been balked by bad weather and high seas.

AVIATOR BELIEVES PLANES ARE LUXURY

BERWICK, Pa., June 11.—Airplanes are and will remain a luxury, according to Lloyd Yost, most experienced pilot in Central Pennsylvania, with a record of 13 years successful flying to his credit.

"The cost of airplanes makes their general use limited, as the progress of aviation now stands, to those with means or to those who use planes in a manner to bring a direct return," Yost said in discussing the statement that automobiles will soon be replaced by planes for ordinary travel.

"Airplanes are in the same class as motor launches. If a man has the money to purchase a launch, he is in the class that can own an airplane for his own use and meet the many expenses incidental to its operation."

with the aid of local transportation companies, the same door-to-door delivery as the Harmony Line seeks to supply.

Counsel for the Harmony Line attempted to show that coordinated delivery service to New Castle was necessary to permit the carrying of interstate freight by motor from there to cities in Ohio. Witnesses for the application also testified that the service it plans to inaugurate if granted a permanent certificate would necessitate only one handling of freight shipments from Pittsburgh to New Castle or intermediate points.

Features of the present freight delivery in New Castle were explained to the commission by S. H. Rhoads of New Castle, freight agent for the Baltimore and Ohio and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads and C. J. Callahan, freight agent for the Pennsylvania railroad at New Castle.

Rhoads testified that through service of five local transportation companies co-ordinated with one-day freight service between Pittsburgh and New Castle, merchants in the latter city were assured of store door delivery. He claimed the present service was adequate, although admitting on cross-examination that institution of the one-handling method and store door delivery by motor truck would be an added advantage.

Callahan testified that the Pennsylvania operates a daily freight car between Pittsburgh and New Castle and that all shipments made at Pittsburgh before four o'clock in the afternoon would be ready for delivery in New Castle at nine o'clock the following morning. The agent admitted on cross-examination that railroads in the past have suffered heavily through the inroads of motor truck transportation in their business. He said he favored motor transportation, but "not at the expense of somebody else and that is the taxpayer."

The witness said his recent dismissal of 100 workmen for the railroad in the New Castle district was due to the loss of patronage to motor carriers. Callahan said freight transported by railroad from Pittsburgh to New Castle was handled three times before it reached the consignee. He admitted that "increased handling means increased costs". Over Attorney Tabor's objections Callahan was allowed to read into the record his opinion that additional service such as the Harmony line seeks to render was "unnecessary".

R. M. Glick, secretary of the Harmony line, revealed on cross examination that the Harmony Line has not yet instituted its own store-door delivery from Pittsburgh to New Castle under temporary certificate. Merchandise for New Castle is delivered to the line's own terminal in Pittsburgh by the shippers there. Transportation to New Castle is made on the trucks of the John Benkart Company, of Pittsburgh, under contract with the Harmony line. Delivery to stores in New Castle is made by the Keystone-Lawrence Transportation Company.

Glick testified that if the commission granted a permanent certificate the company would establish its own fleet of trucks to pick up and deliver packages in Pittsburgh, New Castle, and intermediate points, with only one handling enroute.

The witness testified that the Harmony rates were idential with railroad freight rates and under similar classifications. He said no additional charge was made for the store-door delivery for which the railroads added an additional service charge.

Attorney White, in an interview, declared that the "City of New Castle does not want the Harmony interests present there." He antedated the present agitation against the motor route to last year when he ordered workmen to tear up the tracks of the railroad company there. He claimed that carrier had failed to live up to the terms of a street-paving contract agreement.

White claimed permanent entrance of the motor freight line there would be a detriment to local draymen engaged in carrying merchandise for the railroads. He branded as "unfair" the Harmony's use of public roads while railroads were forced to maintain extensive trackage along the right of way at great expenses.

The city solicitor said the present service provided by the railroad was adequate for the needs of the city and said merchants to whom he had spoken informed him that the Harmony service was unnecessary.

Attorney Ra. Humphrey, city solicitor for Ellwood City, led that borough's fight against invasion of the Harmony line at a previous hearing before the public commission.

Witnesses were called by counsel for the Beaver Valley Service Company operating between Pittsburgh and Beaver Falls to show that service rendered by the Harmony line there would be unnecessary. It was claimed that the present service of the Beaver Valley Company is adequate to provide for the transportation needs of merchants in Beaver Falls and that institution of another service would result in a duplication of efforts and unnecessary expense.

The list of Beaver Falls witnesses called today included: L. D. Miller, proprietor of a men's clothing store; C. W. Calvin, proprietor of the Grand hotel and garage; and H. L. Snowden, a confectioner and former councilman.

Governor Pinchot, at Harrisburg, announced that he would institute a secret investigation of the strike. No public hearings will be held and the investigators will carry their reports directly to him, he said.

Will Welcome Probe

Pittsburgh, June 11.—Governor Gifford Pinchot's promised investigation into existing difficulties in the Western Pennsylvania bituminous coal field where 10,000 miners are on strike will be welcomed by all factions—operators and the two unions which have called the walkout—a checkup by International News Service revealed today.

Carl E. Lesher, Executive Vice-President of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, not only termed the investigation "perfectly proper and laudable" but voiced the hope that the investigation would cover economic difficulties faced by the bituminous industry.

Patrick T. Fagan, District President of the United Mine Workers of America, urged the Governor to summon mine union leaders and operators into a conference in an effort to reach an amicable agreement. Fagan said.

Impartial Arbitrator

"The Governor cannot personally adjust the differences. The only thing he can do is to act as an impartial arbitrator. He cannot fix wage scales or rule upon the conditions under which the men must work.

"He has said he would do his duty in this matter. His duty, as I see it, is to take whatever steps are at his command to bring about a peaceful termination of the strike."

Frank Borich, National Secretary of the National Miners' Union, said "overwhelming proof" that the great majority of the miners and their families "are living under conditions of slavery and starvation" would be furnished an investigating committee.

The promised investigation, Borich charged, came as a result of "the sharp and public demand made by the National Miners for withdrawal of the armed forces of the counties and state, authorized by or sent in by the Pinchot government, who have attacked and are still attacking with tear gas, clubs, machine guns, etc., the miners and their families with unparalleled brutality."

course after entering the ground and buried itself several feet away from the hole.

Experts on explosives discounted the theory that the hole might have been torn by a quantity of nitroglycerin. They declared that nitroglycerin of sufficient quantity to have caused the earth shock yesterday would have torn a much larger hole. Insofar as could be learned, it was said, there was no quantity of explosives being transported near Malinta yesterday.

Rev. F. L. Odenbach, noted astronomer of John Carroll University in Cleveland, expressed the opinion it would have been entirely possible for meteor to have caused a shock similar to that which rocked this section of the state yesterday.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 11.—What was described today as a "brilliant meteor" was sighted here last night by many persons. It appeared in the sky early last evening. Some said a trail of smoke lingered several seconds after the meteor passed.

UTICA, N. Y., June 11.—A large red ball of fire which was sighted here last night was believed to have been a meteor. It fell from high in the sky and left a trail of white, resembling smoke. Some witnesses said tiny sparks dotted the smoke trail.

Another way to make ends meet is to get caught between a truck and a telephone pole.

Danny Casella and his orchestra played throughout the dinner and the evening was interspersed with various interesting numbers of entertainment.

Miss Carrie San Filippo and Rose Gillest pleased greatly with a duet; Mrs. Huy Magricardi sang a beautiful number, as did Mrs. Louis Fusco.

Mrs. Riley Bollard gave a brief history of the church and the congregation joined in the singing of "Blest be the Tie" as the evening came to a close.

The committee to which the credit for the success of the affair is due included Mrs. J. Ruggiero, Mrs. Ida Montozzi, Mrs. Nellie San Filippo and Mrs. Louis Fusco.

COUNTY TAX NOTICES

WITH the approach of another county-wide election, the question of tax notice cards for county taxes becomes one in which the tax payers are interested.

For many years Lawrence county has been following the archaic county tax system it employs. A citizen owning property in several parts of the county is never sure what he owes. True he can go to the court house and find out, but he should be notified in a systematic way.

There is absolutely no reason why Lawrence county should not employ the same card notification system as does the City of New Castle and the surrounding counties. It makes for efficiency, for convenience and for better results in the collection of county taxes.

It is the job of the county commissioners to instal this business like system. Requests from tax payers have been ignored in the past. With candidates now putting forth their reasons for election to this office it would seem like good business for them to advocate this very necessary change.

In the meantime when a candidate for county commissioner approaches you for your vote, ask him if he cares enough for the job to give the taxpayers the benefit of a service they have long since asked for and been refused.

TRYING TO FIND THE CAUSE OF DEPRESSIONS

Nearly everybody has an explanation of the business depression through which we are passing, and most persons have a recipe giving the best way of avoiding such unpleasant experiences in the future. But now, through the generosity of the Rockefeller Foundation, the Carnegie Corporation and similar organizations, the Committee on Recent Economic changes is to institute a serious and comprehensive survey and study of this particular trade recession in the hope and expectation of making recommendations that will prevent future business slumps, or at least to minimize them. The committee is an outgrowth of Mr. Hoover's conference on unemployment in 1921.

The business fact-finders consist of Eugene Meyer and Adolph C. Miller of the Federal Reserve Board; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Arch W. Shaw, chairman of the committee; Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and Renick W. Donlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. The aim is to take the findings of the original unemployment conference and add to them the story of what has occurred since, and thus have a complete analysis and diagnosis of the ten year post-war period from 1921 to 1931. The committee is also to co-operate with a commission of the League of Nations, which is to study the depression from a world standpoint.

The expectation is that this will furnish the material on which will be based the remedy to "guard against future widespread unemployment." Some cynical persons will regard this more in the nature of a pious hope than a practical plan that will be accepted by the world. One pertinent question is whether the slump could have been prevented by sending out "economic storm warnings." The weather forecasts are based on expert studies of the elements. Can we broadcast information that will tell business men when to pull in sail and when to let it out? The Federal Reserve Board is supposed to give such warnings before the approach of a storm. Whether it sized up to its opportunities or not has caused much discussion.

At all events, the investigation proposed is well worth making. The Federal Reserve System has helped us to avoid panics. If we can create something in addition that will be a factor in modifying depressions, it will be a great gain. Anything that will limit the number of unemployed in times of trade recessions will be a great contribution to the public welfare. It will be a pity if we do not profit in some way by the experience through which we have been passing during the last two years.

After all, the greatest interest in ghosts is in whether it is going to walk.

We Had a Village Smithy, Too He Let Us "Hang Around" No Poetry, but a Cheerful Memory

By MARSHALL MASLIN

We had a Village Smithy, but he wasn't much like the noble fellow that Longfellow wrote about.

He had "large and sinewy hands," too, and the "muscles of his brawny arms were (also) strong as iron bands." But he chewed tobacco and clamped his strong teeth on a black cigar and had a smelly pipe and he drank big cans of beer. His smithy stood, not beneath a spreading chestnut tree, but a few doors away from a "family entrance" to a saloon. His greeting was hearty and his laugh was loud, and he let us "children coming home from school" look in at his open door and see the flaming forge and hear the bellows roar and catch the burning sparks that flew like chaff from a threshing floor.

That shop was a fascinating place for kids. To see that big fellow, for all his stout belly, life a great truck horse's leg to his knee and pare and fit and drive the iron shoe on—was a sight for remembering long. I'll forget the scent of roses. I may even forget what it's like to feel the breeze from the new-mown hay upon my face, but I'm sure I'll not forget that bitter, poignant smell of the burning hoof beneath the horseshoer's iron. Not poetic, but part of a boy's living memories.

We'd hand around for hours, though we'd been told to come right home from school. We lived in the dream that he'd let us work his bellows or wield the light sledge, and sometimes on Monday: his helper didn't "feel very well" and we'd get our chance. Sometimes, too, one of the bigger boys was allowed to run to the "family entrance" for a pail of beer and as a reward could take his choice of horse shoes from the pile in the back of the shop. We filled our pockets with bits of iron; nothing was better to use in sling shots to shoot at floating bottles in the river.

Sometimes he permitted us to have a few horse shoe nails. They made fine rings. Or if you stick a nail through a cork and put three chicken feathers in the other end of it, you have a perfect dart, and boys have been known to throw them at schoolroom ceilings. And on winter nights, when black walnuts were cracked on old-fashioned irons, nothing was better than a horseshoe nail for picking the meat out of the shell.

The shop on the side street and the burly fellow who kept it were pleasant parts of many a boy's life. I don't know that we learned all that Longfellow did from his Village Smithy. It never occurred to any of us that:

"Thus at the flaming forge of life
Our fortunes must be wrought;
Thus on its sounding anvil shaped
Each burning deed and thought."

We were just kids in a country town, and none of us—as I remember—were poets. But we had a good time hanging around the blacksmith's shop, and as long as we were there our mothers didn't worry about our getting into mischief.

WHY NOT SECURITY?

Your friend has refused to lend you money and you are disappointed.

Or perhaps your disappointment is based more on the fact that he wants security of equal value if he loans you the money, and he is your friend.

You believe that he should not ask the same guarantee of payment of the loan what would be asked of a stranger.

Well, why shouldn't he?

Of course you intend to repay him

You think he ought to know that you would not cheat him or take advantage of any confidence he might place in you.

Many men have been financially ruined in backing friends who were as honest as you think that you are.

But it isn't always that one can control one's own affairs.

Death may come to entangle your finances.

What chance would your friend have of collecting from your estate?

Bonds of friendship should not be expected to expand into unsafe, unguarded loans.

To protect the friend who accommodates you financially is but one way of showing that you appreciate his friendship.

CHOICE

A dollar said to me:
"I think I'd rather be
The bright joy in a youngster's hand
Than one of millions three."

And once a red rose said,
Beside a sick child's bed:
"I'd rather glow alone than be Part blanket for the dead."

A doll said: "Let me be
A child's glad company
Than merely one of countless dolls
The fond eye may not see."

As for myself, I say:
"The friend I'd rather play
To one who truly needs a friend,
Along life's troubled way,

"Than be just one man more
To cross the threshold o'er
And with a crowd of cheering friends
March to some great man's door."

President At Valley Forge Wins Applause Stirs Debate

Quality Of Hoover Address Widely Commended, But Way To New Prosperity Frankly Discussed In Relation To Legislative Record

Much commendation is given to President Hoover for the quality of his speech at Valley Forge, in which he declared that the nation's current problems should be handled with the spirit of the nation's founders. Attention is given to his attack on what is described as governmental paternalism, some papers with approval of his stand, others with doubt as to the correctness of his position or of his analysis of the cause and solution of the depression affecting the United States.

"A note of humility" in the speech is praised by the BALTIMORE SUN, with the further statement that "the President's concessions to the realities of the situation and his rejection of formulas for finding a way out were all to the good." The Sun concludes that "much of it is decidedly to the point at this time." The SCRANTON TIMES feels that it "carried a message well worth pondering," while the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, quoting his words, "the wisdom of the few instead of the many fails to build an enduring government or an enduring people," declares that it is "sound American doctrine."

The address is described by the ALTOONA MIRROR as a "patriotic appeal," and by the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS as "timely and very much to the point" while the FLINT JOURNAL declares that it "was full of the high purpose, idealism, patient courage and constructiveness which characterize the President's personality." The ST. JOSEPH GAZETTE lauds "an impressive note of leadership, founded on the soundest kind of common sense." The KANSAS CITY STAR also emphasizes "an impressive note of leadership," and an "address of lofty idealism."

"His optimism," in the opinion of the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM, "seems entirely justified, as is his determination not to call a special session of Congress to attempt to remedy business conditions by legislation. The upturn this year in the business-activity index has proceeded steadily with no signs other than for a continuation of the march back to normal." The DULUTH HERALD echoes the President's thought with the comment: "Any of us, in our Valley Forge, whatever its cause, may well think back to the example of our fathers and, like them, endure to win, as they did, a glorious victory." The FORT WAYNE NEWS-SENTINEL agrees: "Just as the men of the Revolutionary Army met the challenge to steadfastness in times and terms of war, so do their descendants rest under heavy moral obligation to meet this new, present-day challenge in times and terms of peace."

Commending the felicitous character of the speech, the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR says: "It deserves to be graven in the nation's memory as 'the Valley Forge Address,' just as Lincoln's immortal words, at the height of another crisis in the Union's history, are cherished as the Gettysburg Address. Like Washington at Valley Forge, Lincoln in 1863 confronted difficulties of immeasurable magnitude. It was faith and fortitude that sustained both."

In harmony with the President's plea regarding the duty of the people, the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION advises that "the people and what we vaguely refer to as 'business and industry' must rescue themselves." The PORT HURON TIMES HERALD is convinced that "the future of man is very definitely in the hands of the race." The NEW LONDON DAY avers that "the good things of life are at hand for all who will fight to get what is wanted." The SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE recalls that "after each of the previous depressions, the United States progressed more than ever before" and adds: "Now the nation is fundamentally stronger in depression than it was in the prosperous periods of 40 or 50 years ago." The DETROIT FREE PRESS states: "A nation of 123,000,000 people ought to be able to summon to its aid as much self-reliance and intelligent confidence in the future as a nation of less than 4,000,000 people did a century and a half ago."

Indorsement of the President's stand against paternalism is given by the HARTFORD TIMES, the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, the INDIANAPOLIS STAR and the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL. The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL holds that, "vigorously opposing paternalism, Herbert Hoover has demonstrated that, in this respect at least, he is more a Jeffersonian Democrat than a Hamiltonian Republican."

"Doubtless President Hoover knew," says the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH, "that the triumph for popular government which resulted from the winter at Valley Forge lay quite as much with the wise leadership of Washington as it did in the fortitude of the troops who froze and starved that the ideal for which they fought might be realized. The President has been doing his full part. But he has been receiving very lame support from some who would be most benefited by a turn of the tide toward greater confidence in government and stability of prosperity." The CHATTANOOGA TIMES suggests: "Would it not be a fine thing if he were to undertake to answer his prayer 'that we may prove worthy', by making a determined effort to relieve the baleful influence of the deadening hand of government by removing at least its two fingers for which his administration is responsible—the tariff and the farm-relief act?"

"Every historian," asserts the DAYTON DAILY NEWS, "tells us that the misery of Valley Forge was due to the failure of the Continental Congress to act. Valley Forge with its suffering was not an act of nature. It was a failure of government. Now again, from the mouth of the government itself, this other Valley Forge, this other refusal of government to act." The CHATTANOOGA NEWS comments: "It was unfortunate to link Valley Forge in the public mind with the present depression. They are so much alike." The OGDEN STANDARD-EXAMINER protests: "If the government is done with farm relief, and public improvements and aid of other kinds, then the president should tell us why the change. If that is not the meaning he intended to convey, to what extent will the government continue to labor to save the situation? If not at all, and if the solution rests on the working of the economic law, then the president should have a fair idea of the time that will be required and the severity of the ordeal to be met, and he should state his views in clean-cut language, that hope may not be dimmed by his present utterance."

"We cannot concede," argues the ST. LOUIS TIMES, "that the dark days of the infant republic in that terrible winter in the Pennsylvania hills is comparable, even for purposes of imagery, to this bright summer of 1931, when a million fields are smiling on a people that have surpassed any other in achievement of any time."

"There is no analogy," maintains the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, "between this nation today and the plight of the colonies in the days of Valley Forge, and whether we are dragging on the bottom or not, there is no doubt that prosperity is going to be re-established in this country. It may be slow and very gradual in coming and it may not be that of the last 10 years, but its return is as certain as the rising of the sun tomorrow."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

The people of the Southwest constantly speak of "Spanish Architecture" when as a matter of fact there is no such thing or never was. It is Moorish Architecture which has dominated Spain and all of Spain's colonies from the Roman Era until now.

The beautiful Mission structure of San Xavier del Bac at Tucson is one of the best examples of the Moorish in North America. It is 105x27 meet in dimensions with a transept twenty-one feet square. It is beautified with gildings and arabesques in the most approved Moorish style.

The Highway is known as "The Spanish Trail" and it is well named. It was almost four hundred years ago that Coronado with his mail clad Spanish soldiers traveled through Arizona, New Mexico and Texas in his quest of the "Seven Cities of Cibola" believed to be built of gold. The Spanish grandees and soldiers were always in the pursuit of gold but the Franciscan friars who followed in their train had but two thoughts—the conversion of the Indian and teaching him the arts of civilization. The few Missions remaining in the Southwest are mute evidences of the zeal courage and skill of the Padres.

When you hurry across the hot mesas of Arizona, New Mexico and Western Texas think of how a Spanish soldier in the train of Coronado or Hernando de Soto bore up under the weight of his armor and camp accouterment!

A Creed For 1931

[Excerpts from "The Sun Dial" by H. I. Phillips in the New York Sun, May 26th, 1931.]

I believe in the American ability to beat any beatable set of circumstances and come up smiling.

I believe in the ability of the American citizen to swim upstream, hit fast ball pitching, break out of a half-Nelson and have a pretty good time in the bargain.

I believe that in the long run fair weather overbalances the bad, that all "breaks" are subject to the law of averages, that the expression "Good old days" is relative and that everything comes out all right in the wash.

I believe that Uncle Sam is still at the old stand with a brave heart and a clear head and I do not believe he is in any danger of losing his pants, coat, vest or shirt.

I believe that American railroads are worth considerably more than a dime a dozen.

I believe that the U. S. Steel Corporation, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the General Electric Company and other big industrial institutions are in no danger of having to take on a side line of lead pencils or apples.

I believe that the worst is over and that it never was as bad as it was advertised.

Senator Schall Asks Nations To Modify Demands

Minnesota Senator Calls On England And France To Modify War Claims

UNITED STATES HAS DONE ENOUGH

Would Have England Grant Germany New Terms For Reparations Paying

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 11.— The agitation in Europe over suggestions for a revision or moratorium on German reparations found an echo here today with Senator Schall (R) of Minnesota, calling on England and France to modify their war claims against Germany.

Schall suggested the allies extend the same terms of payment to Germany that the United States has given them on their war debts. He said this plan would require England to forgive her fixed sum of reparations and accept interest payments at 3.7 per cent a year for a period of 62 years. For France, he added, the settlement would be interest payments at 2.17 per cent a year for the same period.

"There has been too much talk that the United States should do something for Europe," said Schall. "Let Europe help herself by helping others, we have done all we can do to help Europe. We can't do anything but consider the plight of our own people.

"Europe has been telling the German people that we are getting all her reparations. We got nothing out of the war in reality. England got one third the globe, while France and Italy filled their pockets. All we got was prohibition and yet we're called Uncle Shylock."

expounded the truths of this text, taking it as a measure of the Ideal Life of a Christian, stating that an ideal christian life should have the requisites of the burning bush, to be successful a life must have a three fold purpose: a consuming purpose, that will lead one on in spite of all odds; an enduring purpose that will not cause one to give up before the goal is attained; and a divine purpose; to take God into the life as a working companion, for God does not ask man to work alone, but will give his strength to him.

He closed by saying that one could not tell what dynamic force, what a Niagara of power, what infinite possibilities for the uplift of the county might come out of the visions that might be caught at this splendid one day convention.

Rev. A. E. Driggers, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Kittanning, pronounced the benediction and the morning session convened.

The afternoon session began at one o'clock and the evening session will open with a praise service at 7:45.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Resolutions submitted by the committee as expressing the sentiment of the Association were passed this afternoon as follows:

I.

We gratefully acknowledge the goodness, blessings and mercies of Almighty God upon the work of our churches and Sabbath schools during the past year, and bow before Him in humble adoration.

II.

(1) RESOLVED, That we express our appreciation of the consecration and work of the officers of the County Sabbath School association and thank the members of the state association for their assistance in this convention.

(2) That we record our hearty thanks too for their helpful and inspiring addresses.

(3) That we acknowledge the great advantage to our community of the commodious building of the Cathedral and thank the management for their courtesy.

III.

We express our sincere appreciation to the public press of the county for publicity given to announcements and proceedings of the convention, and also for the liberal space given to all moral and religious activities.

IV.

RESOLVED, That we commend the Rescue Mission, the Salvation Army and other agencies for their activities in relieving distressed conditions, and we recommend their continued support by churches, schools and individuals.

V.

RESOLVED, That we commend the W. C. T. U. for their efforts by means of essay contests and other methods to inculcate in the minds of the pupils of the public schools the harmful effects of alcohol and tobacco. We commend them also for their efforts to restrict the sale of lewd and salacious literature; but we candemn the widespread, offensive advertisements of the different brands of cigarettes which appear in leading publications of our nation, and we decry the danger of the "movies" their impact upon the minds and hearts of our children and their effect upon American reputation abroad.

VI.

Whereas, President Hoover has publicly declared that the United States, having taken the lead in the various movements toward promoting peace, must consistently reduce her armaments.

RESOLVED, That we affirm our desire for limitation of armaments as a means of encouraging peace for ourselves and of influencing other nations toward peace; and that we urge upon all people law observance and good citizenship, as the best means for developing a peaceful people.

VII.

We rejoice in the fact that Pennsylvania's Sabbath laws have remained intact for 137 years.

Whereas, it has been found, that where state Sabbath laws have been liberalized, Sabbath school attendance has decreased and crime has increased.

RESOLVED, That we are opposed to any attempt to make it legal to hunt, fish, exhibit moving pictures, or to play baseball, golf and similar sports or games on the Sabbath day. We are also opposed to the transaction of commercial, political and other secular business on that day—and we call upon all Christian people to observe the Sabbath day—not only in letter, but also in spirit. We deplore the fact that our city officials have opened the municipal golf course on the Lord's day, and that the amusements at Cascade park continue to be commercially operated on the sacred day.

In view of pagan propaganda against the Lord's day in subsidized city dailies, and the unscrupulous use of vast resources by commercial amusement and sporting interests to desecrate the day and thereby undermine the spiritual ideals and morals of our youth, we appeal to pastors, Sabbath school superintendents, teachers and patriotic leaders for their earnest cooperation in maintaining the sanctity of the day.

VIII.

Whereas, we believe the enforcement of prohibition laws is still a matter of great importance to the American people, we wish to restate our resolutions of former years.

"That we the Lawrence County Sabbath School association in county convention assembled, do hereby express ourselves as being unalterably opposed to any attempts to abrogate, weaken or nullify the prohibition laws of our state and of the nation. We do pledge our wholehearted support to the officers who are responsible for the enforcement of said laws and we call upon all candidates for public office to state unequivocally their position on this most vital question."

IX.

Whereas, the home is recognized as the fundamental institution of every civilized land, we view with alarm the dangers that beset us at the present when the sanctity of the marriage vow is too lightly esteemed. While we believe that woman has certain inalienable rights and we rejoice that in this day and in America these rights are being recognized and she has been given more opportunities to express herself religiously, socially and politically, yet we fear that the sacred place woman holds in the formation of life and character in the home is being eclipsed and that the high standard of motherhood is being set aside for the vain pomp and show of the world, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, That it is the sense of this body of Christian workers that so far as possible the maintenance of the home should be by the husband and father and further that he should recognize that money, stocks and bonds are not the most important things of life but rather that character based on the principles and teaching of Jesus Christ is so fundamental to welfare of all that we hold dear, he should take the lead in maintaining regular daily devotion in the home and in regular attendance at the worship services on the Lord's day.

X.

In view of the moral laxities of our day some of which have previously been stated in these resolutions and in view of the depressed economic conditions which seem unabated (although much is being published to the contrary) we look with concern to the future; and realizing that we have been putting too much confidence in human agencies for relief, forgetful of what the Lord God through His Prophet has said, "not by might nor by power but by my Spirit", we call upon the people to return to the Lord and humble themselves before Him confessing their sins and trusting in His leadership.

Rev. Oscar Woods, chairman.
Mrs. Harvey C. Robinson.
Mrs. James M. Blackwood.

Sore, Tired Feet

Oh! How good it feels to put your tired, aching feet in a "TIZ" bath! You can just feel the pain being drawn out and grateful comfort being restored.

"TIZ" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet and make them tender and sore. It takes all the soreness out of corns, calluses and strained muscles and makes tight shoes feel a half size larger. Get a box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store and have weeks of foot comfort for a few cents.

the present, and to extolling the leadership of President Hoover.

"Instead of conceding the wise leadership in this time of distress," he said, "carping criticism and belittling comment have become the daily pastime of our opponents.

"This generation will not likely fully appreciate the services of President Hoover in the part he has played in lessening the suffering during this period of world-wide depression.

"At such times critics are many and partisan criticism is bitter. All sorts of unsound nostrums and remedies are proposed, and passion and prejudice are appealed to for action.

Upholds Republicans

"The need of the hour is a leader with a vision to comprehend the problem and the courage to withstand organized clamor.

"As was recently said, 'we should be thankful we have at the head of the nation a man who is the embodiment of all that is capable, strong, patient, sympathetic; all that is protective, conservative, purposeful and beneficial.' Such a man is President Hoover."

The history of the progress of the country, he said, is the history of the Republican party. He pictured the party as standing like a rock for sound money, protective tariff and other economic issues, while the Democrats "went from nostrum to nostrum."

Breach Of Contract For Mine Is Alleged

John Spalvieri And E. W. Koehler Sue C. C. Cox For $98,507.66 Damages

John Spalvieri and E. W. Koehler of Warren, O., have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office here against C. C. Cox and Alice Cox, to recover $98,507.66, for alleged breach of contract with reference to the operation of a coal mine on the Cox farm near Edenburg.

Spalvieri claims that in August 1930 he entered a parol agreement with C. C. Cox, on his own behalf and as agent for Alice M. Cox, whereby he was to operate the mine. It had not been in operation for some time and was full of water. Spallvieri later took Koehler in as a partner and they proceeded to unwater the mine and get it into shape for operation.

When the mine was about ready for operation plaintiff alleged that Cox notified them to vacate the premises and barricaded the mine.

The farm contained 40 acres and it is alleged that there was coal under 36 acres. The coal is estimated at 3,500 tons per acre of 126,000 tons, which plaintiffs claim they would have had a right to mine under the agreement. Their profit on this is estimated at $94,000. They expended $1,457.66 for equipment and estimate their work at $2,250, making a total of $98,507.66 that they claim to have been damaged.

Commander Dispenses With Hand Shaking Here

Commander Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army on her visit here, found it necessary to dispense with hand shaking. This was due to the fact that during her present extensive tour she had been called upon to shake the hands of so many people that her right hand has become nearly powerless and she had it bandaged while here. During her visit here she was presented with letters of appreciation of her work from the Veterans of Foreign wars, the Rotary club, the Lions club, Judge James A. Chambers and others. She expressed her personal appreciation.

As the territorial band of the Salvation Army was playing "Onward Christian Soldiers" at the big mass meeting this morning on South Jefferson street, the director of the band, discovered a little colored boy taking in the happenings with great longing in his eyes. The director of the band got hold of the boy, placed his baton in his hand and guided the boys hand in directing the band.

Chief of Police C. C. Horner and his corps of officers did an especially good piece of work in directing traffic, the placing of the platform trucks and regulating the large crowd.

Mrs. Sara Dana Falls Davis of North Mill street, was introduced this morning at the Salvation Army meeting for Commander Evangeline Booth to the commander, who gave her special greeting due to the fact that she was the cousin of the late Ira D. Sankey, whom Commander Booth extolled in her address.

Grant Diploma To Sick Cadet

President Hoover Orders Military Academy Graduate Stricken Cadet

PARENTS TO GET DIPLOMA TODAY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Charles H. Bonesteel, 3d, a "distinguished cadet" who has been hovering between life and death for several months, was to receive his diploma and commission from the United States Military academy at West Point today in St. Luke's hospital. The commission was granted on the orders of President Hoover.

In making exception to the regulations which require a cadet to be physically fit and present at West Point for his diploma and commission, Mr. Hoover, preserved a tradition because Bonesteel is the fourth generation of his family to be graduated from the military academy. In the fall he will go to oxford on a Rhodes scholarship which he won last autumn.

When Bonesteel who has been seriously ill since last February, was told that he would be graduated with his class a marked improvement was noticed in his condition. Attending physicians are now certain that there is little doubt of his recovery. His parents were to receive the diploma and commission at West Point and bring it back to their son's sick bed.

Must Be Graduate To Wear Cap And Gown In Future

In a report to the school board Wednesday evening, Principal Frank L. Orth of the Senior High School recommended that the practice of graduating seniors with blank diplomas be discontinued, and that in the future, every person appearing in cap and gown be a bona fide graduate.

"In former years when summer school was in vogue, and prior to the establishment of a mid year graduation" said Mr. Orth "there may have been a slight justification for it. Some pupils do not care whether or not they get a diplome, but they do care to appear in cap and gown. In the future unless they have the credits to graduate they should not be given a blank diploma which was filled out when they made up their credits."

The suggestion of Mr. Orth was considered at length and was finally laid upon the table for future action.

Eggs, Milk Valuable In Normal Diet

Clendening Quotes Results Of Food Experiments

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Eggs and milk are valuable ingredients of the normal diet for the obvious reasons that they are designed by nature to initiate growth and stimulate vitality in a young and greedy organism. The nutrient content of an egg must be such as to start all life processes of the cell at the highest rate of speed. It is not certainly known exactly what all these substances are. They have not been identified nor isolated chemically. They may be similar to or identical with the vitamins or they may be entirely different.

Some insight into the existence of these substances is found in the studies of Rose and McCallum. The title of their report is itself significant—"The effect of adding an egg to a diet already adequate." The diet being received was then sufficient to supply the energy and growth and vitamin and mineral needs of the body before the egg was added. The addition of the egg was found to result in improvement much the same as the liberal use of milk provides.

The "adequate diet" eaten before the addition of the egg was sufficient to promote growth in young animals, but the egg was not only more economically utilized for growth as shown by gains in weight per thousand calories, but also resulted in greater growth of the young.

The first experiments done on this subject were on animals. The amount of egg added to the experimental animal's diet was the equivalent of about an egg a day for a child. It is concluded that eggs and milk are once more demonstrated to be important staple foods for the production of a vigorous race.

Observing children, it was found that the addition of an egg a day to a diet already adequate resulted in improvement in the general health and especially in the hemoglobin content of the blood.

Eggs weigh from 50 to 70 grams on the average. There are larger eggs than 70-gram eggs, but a 70-gram egg is a big egg, and a 50-gram egg is a little egg. A 70-gram egg contains 7 grams of protein and 7 grams of fat, which is, roughly, 90 calories. Eggs contain the minerals iron, phosphorus, sulphur and calcium, and Vitamins A, E, F and G. On the whole, a very nutritious and useful combination in small space.

Shoe Dye Poisoning.

When brown shoes are dyed black, the dye, or some part of it, is often absorbed through the skin of the feet, causing a dark blue color to appear on the skin of the whole body. If the shoes are allowed to dry several days this is almost always prevented.

The condition has been fairly frequently reported. The chemical at fault is either aniline or nitro-benzene. Sometimes it is 20 per cent orthotoluidine.

A case has been reported in a baby eight months old. Her mother thought the white canvas uppers of her shoes were too soiled to clean well, so she dyed them. The shoes were put on the baby's feet within an hour after the dye was put on, and it had not entirely dried. An hour after the shoes were put on the baby fell over in a faint. Her skin turned dark blue, and she seemed in a very critical condition. Most of these patients, however, seem sicker than they are. The baby recovered and seemed quite normal and natural in 24 hours.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

There is every reason to believe that no better parochial schools exist in the state of Pennsylvania than are maintained here, when it comes to thoroughness of instruction and efficiency in training. The first parochial school in Lawrence county was that opened in a frame church in West New Castle, now the sixth ward, in 1871 by Father Hays. In 1872, the school was moved to the old Cunningham block on the public square. In 1875, a fine three story structure for school purpurposes was constructed by St. Mary's Parish on North street at a cost of $8,000. The attendance in the school building was at first about 200 but the yearly attendance since then has grown to an average of more than four hundred and the building has been enlarged and improved. The Sisters of St. Joseph are now instructors in the school and the students graduating from this school are always among the leaders in scholarship, when they enter the Junior and Senior high schools of the city. St. Joseph's Parochial School was inaugurated in 1889 by Rev. Fr. F. J. Eger. Madonna Parochial School in Oakland was inaugurated in 1905 by Rev. John Andreejewski. The parochial school of Saints Philip and James was inaugurated in more recent years and is now one of the more progressive of the several parochial schools of the city.

Crop Outlook In Pennsylvania Is Found Favorable

Crop Conditions On Level With Ten Year Average, Survey Shows

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 11.—Pennsylvania's crop outlook is far more favorable than it was a year ago and, influenced by favorable weather last month, is about level with the ten year average from 1920-1929, according to the joint state-federal crop reporting service.

Prospects for winter wheat in the state, the report shows, are for 81 percent of a normal crop, less than last year but in line with the past five years' average. Rye is far ahead of last year's crop with outlook for 2,144,000 bushels. Peaches and Pears are expected to yield better than in 1930.

Corn planting has been retarded by wet weather, the report states, but the outlook is bright. Condition of oats, barley, alfalfa and apples on June 1 was considerably improved over last year and in advance of the ten year average.

For the first time since a year ago, the report indicates, Pennsylvania has had more than normal rainfall and weather favorable for growing crops in all sections.

Of course I've switched to CAMELS

You don't have to look beyond your own intimate circle to realize what has happened.

Everywhere you see evidence of a great country-wide switch to Camels.

That is because the new Humidor Pack performs a real new service for the smoker.

Throughout the nation, literally millions of people have found by actual test that the new air-sealed, sanitary package of moisture-proof Cellophane not only keeps out dust and germs, but also keeps in the rich, mild flavor of the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.

To show their real appreciation of the Humidor Pack Camel smokers from all parts of the country write letters telling the advantages of this scientific new wrapping.

Women tell us they carry Camels in the Humidor Pack in their handbags without having them absorb powder and perfume odors. Workingmen say this moisture-proof wrapping protects their cigarettes from perspiration and pocket dust. Sailors are enthusiastic because the damp salt air does not reach Humidor-packed Camels.

All real benefits of course, but the chief fact that is causing this great nation-wide swing to Camels is the protection which this air-sealed wrapping gives to the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camel cigarettes are blended.

No peppery dust to irritate the membrane; no dried-out tobacco to burn the tongue or sear the throat. Just the fresh, cool mildness of perfectly conditioned tobacco.

Switch to Camels for one day, then quit them—if you can.

CAMELS

NO CIGARETTY AFTER-TASTE

Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one.

Sentence Sermons

By Rev. Roy L. Smith, D. D.

THE SUM OF WISDOM IS

That no man has learned to live who has not learned to work.
That no man can be at war with himself and at peace with the world.
That no life is ever successful which is not planned.
That no money brings real happiness except that which we have earned.
That no life is useless which has the power to inspire a friendship.
That no action is safe which is ruled eternally by a few.
That justice has not been done until both sides of the case have been heard.

Dinner Stories

FISHY!

They were a very green couple from a country village on their honeymoon. A town friend had recommended a certain London restaurant where shellfish were a specialty.

"Oh," said the bride, after scanning the menu, "I think I'll have a dozen lobsters!"

"Lobsters, madam?" echoed the waiter. "Do you mean that?"

"Of course she means lobsters!" The groom gave the waiter a severe look. "And you may bring me a dozen, too."

In due time the waiter appeared staggering under two trays piled high with the red shellfish. He placed a dozen in front of the girl and a dozen in front of the man.

The young husband looked at them aghast. So did his bride. She was the first to recover her speech.

"Don't you think, dearest," she said, in a very small voice, "that maybe it was oysters Harold told us to get."

MORE SCOTCH

"Is there any truth in the report that Angus MacTavish bought the corner filling station?"

"Well, I don't know for sure, but the 'free air' sign has been taken down."

Test To Bare Crime Bent Of Individuals

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 11.—A test that is expected to reveal the criminal tendencies of the individual is being prepared by Joseph W. Hawthorne, instructor in psychology at Washington University here.

"By making a table of the value he places upon various activities and comparing this rating with a standard table computed from normal individuals we can determine whether or not the individual has criminal tendencies," he says.

A partial example of the test follows:

"Suppose you had a chance to witness one of the sporting events listed below. Put a figure one after the event you would like most to see and a five after the one you would care the least about.

"A—A game of chess between two experts for the championship of the states.

"B—A game of football between two of the largest colleges in the country.

"C—A prizefight between two contenders for the world's championship.

"D—A track meet at the Olympic games.

"E—A grudge duel between two of Europe's most expert swordsmen."

While the results are tentative as yet, the tests indicate that those who receive the lowest scores by placing value on activities that indicate they have almost no compassion are likely to have criminal tendencies, according to Hawthorne.

"Primarily the test determines the attitude of the individual toward cruelty. Criminals of the gangster type are almost entirely without compassion or pity," Hawthorne said.

Loses 16 Pounds of Fat---Eats As Usual

Fat Folks—Here's More Proof—One Bottle of Kruschen Salts and Sixteen Pounds Gone—Eats As Usual—Sleeps Better—Costs 85 Cents

Modern Science now makes it possible for you to easily and what's best, to SAFELY obtain a bewitchingly lithe, free-from-fat figure and actually enjoy exhilarated health and increase your attractiveness while doing so—

Simply take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—you can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, fatty meats and pastries.

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. I feel so good in many ways. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat too. I have told 2 of my friends about Kruschen and they find it as I do.

Unlike other salts, Kruschen doesn't aim to reduce by rushing food thru the system—rather it's a superbly blended combination of SIX separate mineral salts which help glands, nerves and body organs to function properly—it drives poisons and harmful acid from the body—Kruschen strikes at the usual CAUSE of fat—that's why it's so amazingly successful in cases where everything else has failed!

And just stop to consider how inexpensive Kruschen is—an 85c bottle lasts 4 weeks and offers the same marvelous reducing and health-giving properties which hitherto wealthy people paid thousands of dollars to go to the famous mineral Spas of Europe to obtain. Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., New Castle Drug Co., and all druggists the world over sell Kruschen and will give your money back if you don't obtain the results you're after.

Safety Council Finds Accident Deaths Gaining

Increase Over Preceding Year Is Shown During 1930

By W. F. PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO June 11—Accident cost 99,000 lives in the United States last year, according to the results of a comprehensive survey just made public by the National Safety Council.

The figure represents a slight increase over 1929 and is in line with steady rise of accident fatalities during the last decade. Heart disease alone takes more lives than accidents among men, the report said. Among women, accidents rate fifth as a cause of death.

"Three billion dollars is placed as a modest estimate of the economic cost of accidents in the United States last year that sum representing direct costs only" the report says.

"A few high was reached in the motor vehicle toll, with 33,000 lives, which is an all-time record. The increase in auto fatalities over 1929 was 5 per cent."

Pedestrian deaths are increasing gradually, but fatalities involving drivers are increasing at "an alarming pace" according to the report. The automobile fatality rate has jumped 500 per cent since 1913 while the death rate from other forms of accidents shows more than a 30 per cent decline.

Next to motor fatalities, "home fatalities" were the highest recorded in the safety council study. There were approximately 30,000 deaths "in or about American homes."

Deaths caused by industrial accidents were estimated at 19,000.

At the eleventh annual convention of the American Railway Association, which closed here recently, a 30 per cent reduction in train accidents was reported for 1930 as compared with 1929.

There was a reduction of 18 per cent in the number of employes who lost their lives, association members said, and only seven passengers were killed in rail accidents as against 36 in 1929.

GARDNER NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Willard H. Kennedy, of Gardner entertained Mr. and Mrs. Chester Young of Ellwood City last Saturday evening, and their brother, Garth Kennedy of New Castle on Sunday evening.

Last Saturday evening when Jack Wimer, and other friends from Gardner went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gibbons, on Haus avenue in New Castle, they learned that Walter Lavendar, Mr. Gibbons, and daughters Misses Emma, Mildred, Pearl, and Bernice, had left before daylight for a trip to State College. The evening was rather stormy, and it was a great relief to all when the travellers reached home in safety bringing with them another daughter of the home, Miss Carrie, who was a student all year at State College, where she won high honors. It was indeed a joyful home coming and a time for praise and thanksgiving.

Mrs. William Zehner, of the New Castle-Ellwood road, came home from Akron on Monday where she had spent some time on account of the very serious illness of her little grand-daughter, Jane Infield. The little girl is still in the hospital but is improving and all are very hopeful of complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mockel, and family of New Castle were guests last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Mockel's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGary, of Gardner, and Mrs. Harriet Ferree.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald recently entertained Mr. Braden Black of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. John Dodds, and daughter Maryland, Mrs. Ethel Dodds, Miss Margaret McDonald and Mr. Frank Rentz, all of Butler.

Attorney C. W. Fenton, and Mrs. Fenton, came home Monday night, to their residence on the New Castle-Ellwood road after spending a week on a delightful motor trip. They visited Harrisburg, went over the Battlefield at Gettysburg, tarried awhile at Hagerstown, Md., and saw the most interesting places along the way. The weather and roads were ideal, the scenery was a constant miracle of loveliness and made travelling an inspiring experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Shaffer, of the Butler road were dinner guests last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Linton of East Brook.

Miss Martha Smith of Gardner has been ill since last July with dropsy and heart trouble, and became so much worse on Tuesday that her sister Mrs. Verna Dare, of Harlansburg was sent for and medical aid was called.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shaffer of New Castle spent Sunday evening at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Shaffer of Gardner.

Henry George Ohls of Clairton is spending some time at the home of his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Clark of the Butler road, on Sunday Mr. Van Ohls, of Clairton came to see his father and the family.

Otto Pearson is a recruiting officer for the Navy, and he and Mrs. Pearson are making their home on Highland avenue in New Castle. Last week Mr. and Mrs. Pearson invited Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Shaffer of East New Castle to go with them to visit Mr. Pearson's parents at Bridgeport, Conn. They all enjoyed the trip immensely and had a wonderfully pleasant visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wissinger of the Youngstown road, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Wallace of Vandergrift, on Monday and Tuesday. Workmen are building a fine sunparlor at the Wissinger home.

Mrs. John Morrow of Gardner is rejoicing now over the improved condition of her mother Mrs. Mary Edmunds of New Castle, who was exceedingly ill for many weeks, but is now at her own home and is gaining every day.

Mrs. John S. White, and her daughter Miss Hazel, of the Frew Mill road went to Greenville on Tuesday to be present at the Senior Fete given at Theil college. It was a brilliant affair and as Miss White was once a student it was a great pleasure to meet former teachers and schoolmates, and renew old time friendships.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. White of the Wilmington road entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McBride of the Mt. Jackson road at dinner last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Welker of the Wilmington road, and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ash, of Pittsburgh spent the week end at Gettysburg, viewing the battle grounds and gaining much valuable historical lore.

Mrs. W. Wylie Wallace, of the Youngstown road went to her home last Friday, after being in the hospital on account of an accident and is very much improved.

Mrs. Louise Reynolds, makes her home with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith, of the Wilmington road. Mrs. Reynolds has been ill with heart trouble for some time and is not improving. Mr. Reynolds has good health and is working every day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Reed of the old Pittsburgh road entertained their four children and their families over last week-end. It was a delightful family gathering and they celebrated the twentieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Mayberry, of Aliquippa, and the birthday of Mr. J. S. Smith of Erie. Heels First Is Season's Vogue In Footwear

Trimmings Placed On Backs Of Shoe Instead Of Toes

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 11—Heels first seems to be the rule for smart spring and summer slippers that are kicking about chic gatherings in the capitol.

Toes don't come in for nearly as much trimming as heels. To tell the truth, the upper is so cut up and cut out that there's harly any toe left. Nearly every shoe's a sandal these days.

Perugia, one of Paris' smartest bootiers, is showing new evening sandals in all shades with highly-colored or golden heels. The rest of the slipper is nothing more than the very narrowest leather straps crossed to keep the foundation in shape.

Argence uses gold kid and cuts it up so far in front that the toes are left uncovered.

Glazed pastel kid slippers and those of fabrics have most elaborate heels of bright metallic kid in all colors of the rainbow. Bright red heels are favorites again and sometimes form the only bright spot in a dark evening ensemble.

Worth uses black satin sandals with two wide straps across the toes and one twisted round the heel and ankle.

Seen dancing at "La Michodiere" recently, which by the way, is a particular favoriate of the Prince of Wales and Prince Carol of Roumania when they happen to be in gay Paree, were two lovely emerald and diamond heels (yes, and real ones, too!) on white satin sandals. They just matched the lining of a little white evening jacket which covered a beautiful white satin gown. Aside from the emerald brooch and earrings there was no other trimming.

PRUNING SHRUBS

Some shrubs—those that bloom early—should not be pruned until after they have flowered in the spring, say horticulturists of the bureau of plant industry. If pruned before, the purpose of pruning—which is chiefly to encourage the growth of the new wood that bears the showiest array of flowers—is defeated. Their growth of wood has already been made and the buds, already formed, are just waiting for a spell of warm weather to open them. Pruning them at this time, then, would spoil them for the season.

The right time to prune these early flowering shrubs is immediately after they are through blooming. They then have all the summer to form new wood, which will reward the gardener with abundant blooms next spring.

Among the most popular of these early flowering shrubs that are not to be pruned until after blooming are the various species of Forsythia, most Spiraeas and lilacs, Viburnums, Philadelphus, Cornus and benzoin.

If properly done, pruning keeps flowering shrubs at their best and makes them a continuous source of beauty. Formerly the idea of pruning shrubs was merely to lop back the tops. Spiraea, Forsythia, Philadelphus—all looked alike with their rounded, uninterested tops. Gardeners now, however, recognize that each shrub has its own individual habits of growth. And the pruning should preserve these characteristics, care being taken not to spoil the shrub's natural shape. This is accomplished by cutting down to the ground, allowing the newer growth to remain.

Congress Control Of Radio Advertising Is Being Strongly Urged

Rep. E. L. Davis, Tennessee, Will Introduce Matter To Congress

Lottery Advertising Now Prohibited In Newspapers Will Also Be Fought

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Congressional action to control advertising over the radio, particularly to prohibit lottery advertising now illegal in newspapers, will be demanded in the next session of congress, Rep. E. L. Davis (D) of Tennessee announced today.

As ranking Democrat on the merchant marine committee, Davis has exercised wide influence in shaping radio legislation. He is author of the "Davis amendment" under which the sweeping 1928 readjustment of radio stations was made.

The bill which he will present to congress, Davis emphasized, is designed to place radio advertising on the same plane as that of newspapers and to avoid censorship by any commission.

He also is considering legislation to prohibit firms from soliciting business by radios in states where it is unlawful for them to solicit.

Davis said:

"Under present federal law, newspapers or other publications containing lottery advertising are unmailable. There is no law applying to radios, and the federal radio commission has declined to interfere with this class of advertising.

"It has been the consistent policy of the federal government to prohibit lotteries and kindred schemes to the extent of its power. There are plenty of precedents for exercise of congressional action in the case of radio advertising."

Rabbi Menkes To Speak On Procrustean Beds—A Problem In Adjustments

The story of the fiendish device known as the "Procrustean Bed" is enough to send horror and aversion to the heart of civilized people today: and yet many of us carry out the idea of Attica's brigand in dealing with our fellowmen.

In dealing with the manifold problems of adjustment between individuals, races and creeds Procruste's torturous and profitless method is more frequently resorted to than the way of God which has been clearly indicated in the Scriptures and sublimely revealed in the Universe around us.

Shall we be the ready disciples of a dead Procrustes or the children of a living God?

What constitutes the only desirable basis for adjustments, that will ultimately lead to the Universal Brotherhood of Man?

These questions will be discussed by Rabbi Menkes at the regular Friday evening services at Temple Israel tomorrow night at 8:00 p. m.

After the services there will be a social hour with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Perelman acting as hosts.

Sabbath morning services at 10.30 a. m.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Big Sister Asks Advice Of Dr. Myers

Spoiled Child Is Problem To Older Members Of Family

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I read your articles every day, and although I am only 19 now I think some day when I have children of my own I'll be educated on bringing up children that I can bring mine up properly. I guess I missed your articles on what to do with crabby children, and as I've got a seven-year-old sister who is crabby and mean I ask you again to please print some information on this.

"In the morning she screams and hollers until she makes my mother come upstairs a couple times or more to wait on her. My mother has to drop everything she's doing and wait on her to quiet her. She won't let any of the rest of us help her and it just makes her worse if we try to. When she comes down to breakfast she will very seldom drink any milk, and her breakfast will be complete with a couple of doughnuts. My mother tells her she must eat something else, but she does just as she pleases and every two minutes my mother has to run and get something for her.

"At noon when she comes home she is always crabbing or fighting with my nine-year-old brother, who has a very serious case of asthma, and any little thing works him up and he chokes for the rest of the day and all night.

"When she comes home from school and wants to take things out to play with that mother doesn't want her to, she takes them out anyway. She seems to get a lot of joy out of bossing my mother and doing things she shouldn't. When it comes supper time, if when I set the table I happen to forget a knife or fork or something at her place, she screams for my mother to get it for her.

"Sometimes if we don't have things for supper that she likes she just fingers her plate and frets, 'why we don't have something to eat.' Then my grandfather comforts her by telling her she's such a nice little, sweet little darling, that he's going to give her some candy, and he does give her candy and tells her what a terrible girl I am. This just burns me up because I've always tried to eat the things I should.....She's so bad that she's enough to make any one have a nervous breakdown....."

Then she refers to the malnourished condition of her sister.

Answer: I am very sorry for you and sorry for the child. In the first place, you probably take the matter too seriously. So long as you cannot do much about it you merely wear yourself out and make yourself miserable. If possible, try to adapt yourself to the inevitable. The more you show annoyance at the child and her bad management, the worse your mother and grandfather grow.

You seem very keen in your description, and I have a notion you could bring up your sister very well. But no matter how wise and clever you may be, the inevitable fact faces you that parents and grandparents just naturally don't think their children or grandchildren capable of giving advice.

Don't even ask them to read this article. Better work through some of their adult friends who might induce your mother, particularly, to read my column regularly. Such friends might also persuade your mother to go to the library and read my book, "The Modern Parent", particularly the chapter on punishment, and the one on inconsistency, and also to send through your paper to the Parent Problem a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cents for my pamphlet, "Punishments and Rewards."

But please don't criticize your mother nor offer her advice. It merely will make her worse and you more disgusted with her bad methods.

Get Rid of PIMPLES

Perhaps you have every reason to be discouraged after trying all sorts of high-priced salves and lotions which failed to bring help to your pimply skin.

One thing's certain—you never used Peterson's Ointment because Peterson's is the one sure method that won't fail to eradicate the worst, most obstinate case of blemished skin.

One application—your pimples and blackheads start to go—in a couple of days eruptions have healed, your face is remarkably cleared! Continued use gives you a complexion utterly free from any irritation—delicately smooth—clear.

Mary Metinko of Rankin, Pa., writes: "Ever since I can remember I have had pimples on my face but after I got a box of Peterson's Ointment I found that it works like magic, I recommend it to all my friends".

Ofttimes pimples entirely disappear in three days and one 35 cent box will prove it—All drug stores.

Lo, The Poor Indian! A Few Still Remain

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., June 11.—Ernest B. Dane, symphony orchestra trustee, president of the Brookline Trust Company and director of several large corporations, boasts ownership of six cigar-store Indians.

The six red men, a bunch of cigars clasped in hand, are standing in Mr. Dane's barn, apparently satisfied to retire to their reservation after a lifetime spent in front of various stores, their wooden cheroots symbolic of fragrant Havanas within.

The last wooden Indian to be seen here was stationed in front of a store on Cambridge Street. A check-up of cigar-store Indians in New England reveals that there is one each in Lowell, Lawrence, and Marlboro, in Massachusetts; Portsmouth, N. H., and Madison, Me.

Picks His Prison, Gets Long Term

(International News Service)

JACKSON, Mich., June 11—Your Honor, I want to go to Marquette prison because there men are men and not a bunch of kids: I will get along better." So spoke Frank Dalton, 41, convicted felon. The court finding him to be a third offender under the criminal code passed sentence of 20 to 28 years and gave him his wish. Dalton's last offense was forgery. While held in the county jail here he escaped twice, once by blinding several deputy sheriffs with pepper as he dashed out.

A DISTINGUISHED SCIENTIST SITTING IN THE AUDIENCE
By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Some years ago the writer delivering a lecture before high school students in Ft. Wayne, Ind., made use of the old theory of the earth's shrinking interior that left the crust too large, so it buckled up, making mountain ranges. A gentleman in the audience conversed with him at the conclusion, advancing the "Continental Drift" theory, and how, by drift to westward of the Americas the Rockeys and the Andes were pushed up. This theory is based on the scientific assumptiion that 1,000 miles under us there is a dense sticky liquid or molten glass on which the continents rest. Professor F. B. Taylor, famous geologist and inventor of the theory, was the man addressing the writer.

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Specialist Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new remedy known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's prescription is a quick acting yet harmless internal medicine. After years of study he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer of itching, bleeding or protruding piles to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Eckerd's, New Castle Drug Co., and good druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will positively end piles in any form or money back.

On that honorable basis every pile sufferer should secure a bottle of Dr Leonhardt's HEM-ROID tablets today.

NEW YORK, June 11.—"More than a restaurant—an institution," is the remark made by a sign in the window of a Sixth Ave. beanery.

And to offset this, a competitor across the way has hung out a shingle on which is inscribed: "A thousand for a Nickel."

PROLONGED AGONY.

Yeah, but it's still pretty drab in spots, girlie.

MISPLACED PITY.

Father William E. Cashin, twelve years chaplain at Sing Sing, now pastor of St. Andrew's, just back of the Municipal Building, down near the Brooklyn Bridge, looks back over his decade-and-two-year soourn with the failures of the criminal world and voices the belief that there is too much sympthy squandered by mankind in general on Those Who Get Caught.

"It would be a fine study for someone to make," he says, "if they were to look into the question of how criminality has been placed on a business basis in this country. If you were to look into the surety bond business you might find that no matter how much a criminal steals nobody loses but himself.

"And then you might make an inquiry into the growth of law enforcement. It would be a fine study for someone to find out how much the police force costs in New York City, the millions of dollars, and then ask how all those men could earn that much money enforcing the law if there were no criminals to enforce it against.

"And then it would be a fine study for someone to look into this welfare business. You might find that it is the business of the welfare workers to make a man feel that no matter what he does he is a victim of circumstances and needs help rather than any punishment.

"That is what I mean when I say that there is too much sympathy for criminals in the world."

Father Cashin spends most of his time getting jobs for ex-cons and passing out money to them. But you can't get him to peep on stuff like that.

"There is too much sympathy for criminals in the world!"

GOING ONE BETTER.

One of New York's Big Pill and Prescription Men is quoted as saying that the best reducing system is described in four words: "No more, thank you."

An improvement on that would be: "Not any, thank you."

He has done his durndest; but still it's "legs—legs—legs..."

Why didn't Paul Poiret succeed?

Why didn't the Kaiser take Paris?

LOOSE LADY.

At the peak of the tea hour not many days ago a handsome lady in a tan coat strolled into a tea room in the vicinity of Thirty-seventh Street and Fifth Avenue, sat down at a table and lolled out her tongue in a plaintive appeal to be served. She was a young police dog, unescorted and wearing a collar, but no license tag.

Admiring hostesses brought her a plateful of chicken sandwiches, which she daintily consumed. A telephone message brought a messenger from an animal retreat and the unescorted "lady" was hustled away in a taxi.

Urges Public Support For Merchant Marine

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 11.—Alfred Haag, director of the bureau of research for the United States shipping board, recently advocated an expansion of the navy building program and pleaded that the American merchant marine ships be given business both at home and abroad.

Speaking before the Chicago Rotary club, he said:

"The strength of our merchant marine our position as a first class nation from both a commercial and military viewpoint. There appears to be criticism directed at the United States for wanting to build new ships. In the last decade every country that amounts to anything has outbuilt our government."

Haag asserted that while the support of the government is essential for the success of a ship building program, the greatest contribution toward a successful merchant marine is the liberal patronage of the American exporter, importer and the traveling public.

Will Purchase Music Numbers

Following the receipt of a statement from Joseph Replogle, director of band music for the Senior High school, by the School Board on Wednesday evening, authority was granted to purchase parts needed for a list of 69 band numbers. Mr. Replogle stated in his report that he planned a 74 piece band for next year, that because of the frequent appearances of the band it was necessary to change the repertory at times and he felt that the numbers were necessary.

Buy Materials For City Schools

Requisitions Are Closely Scrutinized By Members Of Board

Requisitions for materials for the various schools of the city were scrutinized with an eagle eye on Wednesday evening when the board of school directors met. In the general requisition for supplies, Director A. C. Hyde raised the question of the necessity of some new reference books, the total cost of which amounted to some three hundred dollars. After a general discussion it was agreed to remove these requests from the requisition list and the amended requisition list was approved for $1275.27.

Purchases and repairs to the amount of $1226.63 were authorized. The requisition for cleaning supplies and various other articles for the schools for the coming year drew forth some question over the number of cases of paper towels ordered, 125. Mrs. Douthett asked if this hadn't increased since the use of paper towels was first started and it developed that the original order some years ago was forty cases. The teachers will be notified next year to see that there is no waste of the towels. The total of the requisition for cleaning supplies amounted to $2927.93.

The text book requisition amounted to $15,620.03 and was approved. This for text books for all grades for next term.

Women Aim To Turn Politics Into A Science

Expect To Produce Revival In Political Life Of Nation

By W. F. PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Ill., June 11.—As a result of eleven years of woman suffrage, American politics have tended to be transformed from a game into a science, according to Marguerite M. Wells, vice president of the National League of Women Voters.

"Those who defend the success of woman suffrage," Miss Wells said in a recent address, "claim that no one expected a millenium, and that it was folly to think that the new voters brought up in a tradition of nonparticipation in government would be able to make a great advance in a man-made political world.

"Women understood that a democracy cannot run without parties, and that in our country parties were not models of good conduct.

"Women have begun to admit their disappointment; have begun to see that they cannot make a real contribution to political life through these parties.

"We need a revival of political life and it was perhaps folly to expect it to begin in the political machine. It must come from outside the machine and reform it. And here is where the distinctive contribution of women is needed.

"Women are most needed today in solving the outstanding problems. These are a readjustment between government and the social and economic life, with due regard to human welfare, and the abolishment of war.

"I think I see signs that woman voters are making a contribution to the political life of the country just where it is most needed."

Miss Wells described the numerous groups of women that have been organized in the last eleven years to study the business of government. The League of Women Voters alone in this period has distributed more than 2,000,000 educational pamphlets, she said.

"In this way," Miss Wells concluded, "women generally and the League of Women Voters are doing a work which is the nearest approximation of making politics a science rather than a game."

Great National Park Is Planned

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 11.—Britain is to have its great national park on the lines of Yellowstone Park in the United States and Jasper Park in Canada.

This is the decision of the committee appointed by the labor government last year, according to the "Daily Herald", labor organ, which states the committee will suggest a number of suitable areas, leaving the government to make its selection.

The proposed national park will serve a dual purpose. It will be a holiday center for walkers, campers and other lovers of the open air and a national preserve where British bird, animal and plant life will be allowed to flourish.

Numerous areas were suggested to the committe as being the most suitable. It is probable the government's decision will be the Forest of Dean, a beautiful stretch of natural forest and parkland in Gloucester county.

Police Search For Wealthy Heiress Ends, When Girl Is Reported Found

(International News Service)

WARWICK, R. I., June 11.—As a police search for Miss Ruth Aldrich, 19 year old heiress, was launched this morning, it was announced at the Aldrich home here that the girl had been located.

Miss Aldrich, a granddaughter of the late Senator Nelson W. Aldrich and related by marriage to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was reported missing to Boston police early today.

At the Aldrich home they refused to discuss the matter merely stating that Miss Aldrich was safe and unharmed. They refused to reveal her whereabouts or the reason for her disappearance.

Time Not So Bad As 50 Years Ago

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—With daylight saving time effective in some cities and not in others, it was brought to light by a time expert that 50 years ago there were 49 different kinds of time in the world before adoption of standard time. The change to standard time was bitterly resisted in some cities and before it was inaugurated such large cities as New York, Boston, New London, New Haven and Providence had their own time, and all were different.

PRESENT DIPLOMAS TO FIFTEEN YOUNG LADIES AS NURSES

in a major degree in following the precepts of religion and the teaching of Jesus, that we are "our brother's keeper".

Dr. Shoaff in his address traced the care of the sick and the nursing profession from its earliest inception back centuries ago and showed the progress that had been made and what nursing meant today. Both he and Father Doerr urged the members of the class to maintain the highest ideals in carrying on their profession.

John J. Mather, secretary of the board of directors of the hospital, presided in the presentation of the evenings program and performed the duties of presiding officer in a very capable manner.

Presents Diplomas

Presentation of the diplomas to the members of the class was one of the more impressive moments of the program carried out in connection with the commencement exercises. The presentation to each of the members of the class was made by Benjamin F. Moorhead, president of the hospital board.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Moorhead urged the members of the class to cherish and keep their diplomas, that they might be handed down to future generations. Each nurse as her name was called and she walked to the center of the stage for her diploma was accorded enthusiastic applause by the audience.

Included in the program of the evening were a number of selections by the Emery Orchestra, two fine selections by St. Mary's Quartette consisting of Messrs:—Francis Morrissey, Bernard Rogan, Stephen Griffith and John Griffith with Rev. Fr. F. S. Clifford as accompanist and two delightfully rendered vocal selections by Florence Weinberg Slavon.

Express Appreciation

John J. Maher, presiding officer of the evening, in his concluding remarks expressed his appreciation and also that of the Sisters of St. Francis and the board of directors to all those who had in any way contributed to the success of the evening.

The stage was most attractively decorated with baskets of flowers, palms and color effects that made a very pretty effect. Seated on the stage were the graduates, John J. Maher, the chairman, Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Doerr, and Dr. Paris A. Shoaff, the speakers and Benjamin F. Moorehead, the president of the board of directors. Graduates of other years acted as ushers adding much to the beauty of the scene as they escorted the people here and there attired in their attractive white nursing uniforms.

Sisters of St. Francis in charge of and on active duty in the local hospital and members of the undergraduate classes of the hospital, the latter in their regulation training period uniforms occupied a special reservation of seats in the front of the auditorium and were accorded special recognition by the audience as they marched into their places at the opening of the exercises and as they left at the close to resume their active duties.

At the close of the exercises, the graduates were accorded an informal reception in the lobby of the building, receiving the congratulations of their friends, who were present at the exercises. Each of the graduates wore an attractive corsage of red roses.

Chief Address

Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Doerr in the course of his address said among other things "There is a tendency today to think that medical science and the care of the sick have advanced mostly in recent times and that the hospitals of the present day mark a decided advance in the care of the sick, but we forget that back in the twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth centuries that there were large and wonderful hospitals for the care of suffering humanity and that nursing was at its greatest height. This period was followed by a decadence in both until the end of the Eighteenth and the beginning of the Nineteenth centuries.

"The young ladies of the graduating class are most fortunate in their selection of the care of the sick and must remember that there comes with the ability and training to care for suffering humanity, a responsibility, which may prove trying. The real success in the nursing profession is the ability of the nurse is in being able to follow the routine of their work, which seldom varies, and be sympathetic and helpful to those for whom they are performing the service of their profession.

"But there is another essential and that is the need of the motive of the religion and the acceptance of and the following of the ideal of Christ, who said 'I Am My Brother's Keeper.' This is necessary for the nurse to reach the highest possible standards in her profession. The nurse so equipped has nothing to fear and goes forth to give her best and have the best come back to her."

Dr. Shoaff after giving a most interesting insight into the nursing profession from its earliest inception to the present time, said "To serve humanity is noble but to serve stricken humanity is doubly so. The nursing profession is the right bower of the healing profession and the class motto "Fidelity to Duty" is a most happy and appropriate one."

The Graduates

The members of the graduating class were Dorothy Elizabeth Waddington, New Castle; Katherine Smilena Stanish, Bessemer; Anna Esther Misinay, Farrell; Gwyneth Vaughn Lloyd, Edna Mae Bartsch, Anna Catherine Jenkins and Anna Mary Doyle, all of New Castle; Margaret Mary Varley, Lowellville; Matilda Rose Bogdon, New Castle; Gertrude Magdalen Lemery, Ellwood City; Mabel Mae Miller, Volant; Helen Louise McBride, New Castle; June Alice Belleville, West Middlesex; Elizabeth Eileen McCormick, Portersville, and Christina Belle Kinnon, New Castle.

SOCIETY ADOPTS COOL COSTUMES FOR RACES

Smart little costumes with an eye to coolness and comfort were worn by society maids and matrons at the recent races at Belmont Park, Long Island, N. Y. Among those whose pictures were snapped at the track were Mrs. Robert L. Stevens, left, popular Gotham matron, walking with Miss Eleanor Barry, second, who is wearing a flowered sleeveless frock. Miss Nancy Heckscher, third, one of the most charming of the American girls recently presented at the British court, and Miss Mabel Smithers, right, of Park avenue, New York and Delray, Fla.

A DOLLAR LINE.

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—It has been estimated by one of the workers in the state treasurer's office, that if all of the money taken in by the department in 1930, were converted into silver dollars and these coins arranged into piles, they would make 2,264 stacks each as high as the dome of the state capitol building. It was further figured out that if they were all laid out so that the edge of one would just touch the edge of another, a line of silver dollars would be constructed that would reach from Chicago to Los Angeles and then on to San Francisco.

SALVATION ARMY HEAD ADDRESSES MEETING AT NOON

line Booth of the Salvation Army today to one of the largest crowds that has been assembled in the downtown district of the city in many years. Greeting her were the Mayor, William H. Gillespie, representatives of the Ministerial association, the members of the local advisory board, representatives of various civic and service organizations, the W. C. T. U. and many others.

As the Commander approached the platform at the exact spot where forty-seven years ago Captain Nellie Keiser held the first Salvation Army Service here and just across the public square from the site of the former Park Opera House, where forty-five years ago, her father General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army addressed an audience, she passed through a group of Girl Scouts of the city in charge of Miss Nance Pugh, Girl Scout Director. In the course of her address, Commander Booth paused long enough to remark on this courtesy and the appearance of the girls in the trim scout uniforms.

Band Accompanies

The Commander was accompanied on her brief but most interesting visit here by Commissioner and Mrs. John McMillan of New York, Colonels Fletcher Agnew and Richard Griffith, the thirty members of the Territorial Staff band from New York and a number of missionaries and Lt. Colonel Charles Campbell of the Western Pennsylvania division and various staff officers of the division.

Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge of the local corps, was in charge of arrangements and with the hearty co-operation of the authorities and many organizations and individuals, made the visit of the Commander and party one of the most successful of the twelve day automobile trip now in progress in the Eastern part of the United States.

As the commander arose to speak she was presented with two beautiful bouquets of flowers, one by little four-year-old Mary Elizabeth Thomsen, daughter of Ensign and Mrs. Thomsen, as the gift of friends in the city, and the other by little Helen Mae Herberg on behalf of the local corps.

On her arrival on the platform she was greeted by Mayor William H. Gillespie, Representative W. W. McElwee, Miss Margaret Walker of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, representing the auxiliaries of the various World war service organizations, Chairman William White of the local Salvation Army Advisory board, various ministers of the city and others, who were fortunate enough to be near her on the platform.

Prior to the arrival of the commander and the main party, Baron Von Callio, a native of Russia, but a Salvation Army officer of many years' standing, and Captain Thomas Malpass, young people's secretary in western Pennsylvania, arrived and started the services of the meeting. The meeting was opened with singing of "There is a Fountain Filled With Blood", in which the vast audience joined heartily. Mrs. V. Thomsen, wife of the local officer in charge, then led in prayer. This was followed by special musical numbers by Baron Von Callio, who played several instruments at the same time. This continued until the main party arrived.

Commissioner John McMillan then assumed charge and he started the main meeting with the singing of "Onward Ohristian Soldiers", accompanied by the Territorial band. The vast audience joined in the singing with such enthusiasm as to bring expressions of pleasure from Commissioner McMillan and the commander. Ensign Kimball, missionary from South Africa, then led in prayer.

A cornet solo by Ensign Parkins of the band followed. Adjutant Martha Kruschwitz, who served in Java for 14 years, part of the time in a leper colony, then spoke briefly of her experience in the work. Lt. Col. Alfred A. Chandler, national spiritual special, was the next speaker.

Mayor William H. Gillespie was then introduced and in turn welcomed Commander Booth to the city and expressed the appreciation of the community for the work of the Salvation Army in this city and in the country.

The concluding part of the program was music by the band and a last beautiful gesture on the part of the commander, when she threw out into the vast audience bouquets of flowers which many outstretched hands sought to secure.

Immediately following the conclusion of the program, Commander Booth and party left in their cars escorted by state highway patrolmen for Slippery Rock, Mercer and Oil City. The party came here from Rochester, Pa.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Gas Regulator Shed Fire Held Cause Of Leak

Seventh Ward Firemen Save Gas Mechanism; Shed Will Be Rebuilt

Quick work on the part of the seventh ward fire department last evening saved a valuable gas regulator at the west end of the Cherry street bridge after flames, which firemen report started from a gas leak, flared up in the wooden shed in which the regulator was housed.

Firemen estimated the damage at $25.

It was reported today by the Manufacturers Light & Heat company, owners of the regulator, which controls the flow of the firm's gas in the seventh ward, that the machine was not damaged in the fire. The shed, it was reported, will be torn down and a new one built in its place. The new structure will probably be of brick.

Young Groundhog Captured For Pet

Walter Stone and D. R. Kephart set out for the wilds of Mt. Jackson Tuesday afternoon to look for groundhogs—for the sole purpose of kidnaping a baby groundhog and raising it for a pet.

Today there is a little bundle of fur with a twitching nose, nibbling at weeds in a cardboard box—the victim of the hunting party. But it seems quite pleased and contented with its lot and has become accustomed to the cardboard box and the company of the people.

One of these days it will probably be named. As yet, no one can agree on any one name. The police officer thinks that "Shorty" would be a lovely nom de plume for a groundhog. But the others believe that it should be something with a little more dignity.

Alleged Slayer Being Grilled

State Police Grill Suspected Slayer Of Bradford County Official

PLAN TO ARRAIGN SUSPECT TODAY

(International News Service)

SMETHPORT, Pa., June 11.—Charged with murder in the first degree despite his repeated assertions of innocence, Antonio Lorenzo Damaio, 37, more widely known as "Tony Lorenzo", captured by state troopers near Weedville, today was to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace R. C. Gleason here for the gang feud slaying of Albert "Buffalo Al" Ritchie, county detective and alleged bootleg leader of Bradford.

Under five hours of grilling at the hands of state police, Lorenzo refused to reveal anything but his name, police reported. Loretta Sarandrea, who escaped the gunfire which mowed down Ritchie and wounded Tony Maccio, was arrested and held as a material witness to the slaying.

Gunman Identified.

Sarandrea, according to police, pointed out Lorenzo as the gunman who fired at Ritchie as he sat in his automobile a short distance from the public square in Bradford last Friday. The suspect denied Sarandrea's accusations and refused to give his questioners a clue to his actions prior to the shooting.

Corp. Marcus White of the Kane sub-station of the state police denied that a ballistics expert would be summoned to investigate two revolvers which police found in Lorenzo's possession. It was at first believed necessary to provide testimony concerning the guns at Lorenzo's arraignment, but White said the troopers had sufficient testimony to make out a strong case against their suspect.

County Detective Judd Allison today took active charge of the case. Lorenzo's arraignment was scheduled for 10 o'clock. Indications were that Sarandrea would be brought here from the Bradford jail to testify.

Disability On Vets Insurance Is Broadened

More Favorable Disability Clause Made Available On Government Insurance

Word has been received from National Headquarters of the American Red Cross by the Lawrence County Chapter, stating that the Veterans Bureau has prepared a circular, describing the total disability provision which was authorized in Section 311, World War Veterans Act, by the amendment of July 3, 1930.

This special feature provides, where the insured contracts for this feature, that the Bureau will:

(A) Pay to the insured, a monthly income at the rate of $5.75 for each $1,000 insurance as shown on the face of the policy, said payments to be effective as of the first day of the fifth consecutive month of continuous disability and shall continue to be so payable during such total disability. Any monthly income payments due the insured by reason of total disability and not paid during his lifetime, shall be paid to the beneficiary of the policy.

(B) Waive the payment of premiums on the insurance policy and on the total disability provision during the payment of the monthly income on account of total disability.

(C) Refund to the insured, if living, otherwise to the designated beneficiary, any premiums paid for the period during which total disability benefits are paid.

Monthly benefits paid under this plan do not decrease the face value of thfe policy. The insured may receive payments under this total disability clause and at the same time receive the usual permanent total benefits of the policy.

The total disability provision may be applied for at the time government insurance is applied for, or at any time thereafter while insurance is in full force. There must be proof of good health.

This amended insurance feature is considered very advantageous for veterans, whereas the original total disability clause under the old law was not favorable.

TRUCK FIRE HALTED WITH EXTINGUISHER

Employing a chemical fire extinguisher when he saw a truck on South Jefferson and Market streets was endangered by flames caused by carburetor backfire this morning, M. R. Bates succeeded in checking the blaze before central station firemen arrived. The truck was owned by Joseph C. Wirtz of the Harbor road. No damage was reported.

Be careful of the example you set. When you argue with a fool, he does the same thing.

Educators Are In Harrisburg

Twenty-Five Prominent State Educators In Conference Today

NEW PROGRAM TO BE FORMULATED

HARRISBURG, June 11.—With a view toward studying the educational methods of the commonwealth and formulating a ten year program of educational development calculated to raise Pennsylvania's school system to new levels, 25 prominent educators will meet here today with Dr. James N. Charges By Girl Denied By Brown

Defendant Admits Being With Her But Claims His Conduct Was Proper

After arguments by attorneys and a charge by the court, the case of the commonwealth against Ernest Brown, which was taken up before Judge Hildebrand on Tuesday afternoon, went to the jury at noon today.

Brown went upon the witness stand in his own defense on Wednesday afternoon, and denied the more serious part of the charges made by Catherine Sapienza, 15 year old daughter of Charles Sapienza.

Brown claimed that the families lived in the same neighborhood and had been friendly. He admitted that he had taken Catherine out for rides in his automobile, and that he had taken her to school on several occasions. However he denied that he ever had any unnatural relations with the girl.

He also denied that he had made threats to kill her, that he had forced her to drink and smoke. In fact he claimed that so far as his conduct toward her had been, it had been that of a gentleman.

He also claimed that he had been shot by the girl's father Charles Sapienza, and that the charges were not brought until after the shooting.

Nurse Strangled; Examiner Reveals On Wtiness Stand

Doctor Who Examined Miss Verna Russell, Says Marks Found On Throat

OTHER ELEMENTS ARE ELIMINATED

Elliott R. "Pinky" Hathaaway, On Trial For Murder Of Young Nurse

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEWPORT, R. I., June 11.—The marks found on the throat of pretty Verna Russell, whose body was found in a lonely lover's lane on March 24, last, were put there by a hand, Dr. Charles H. Bryant, medical examiner of Riverton, who conducted the autopsy, testified today at the trial of Elliott R. 'Pinky' Hathaway who is charged with the girl's murder.

In Dr. Bryant's opinion, nothing else could have caused death than strangulation accomplished by this hand.

Dr. Bryant resumed the stand shortly after ten o'clock this morning. Yesterday he had testified that death of Miss Russell was due in his opinion based on examinations, to "asphyxia, by strangulation."

The Chief Prosecutor, Attorney General Benjamin M. McClyman, asked him today if strangulation was the sole cause of death. Dr. Bryant replied in the affirmative, adding that "all other elements were eliminated."

Windy City Sets Up Detective Bureau, Patterned After Famous London Organization

John Alcock, police commissioner of the Windy City

Captain William Schoemaker, chief of Chicago's "Scotland Yard"

By E. M. CIPRIANI
Central Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 11.— "Scotland Yard" has come to Chicago. Not the original and famous detective organization of London, but one, it is hoped, which will be its counterpart in excellence and efficiency.

The goal of the local Scotland Yard will be to solve every crime, to keep on the trail of every fugitive murderer until he is brought to justice. In every respect, the new bureau here will be independent of other agencies and supervision except one—responsibility to Police Commissioner John Alcock.

The commander of the local organization is Capt. William Schoemaker, former chief of detectives, and regarded as one of the ablest and most honest officials on the force.

Alcock's Project

Creation of "Scotland Yard" is the work of Commissioner Alcock. For years his ambition has been to develop a division of sleuths comparable to the world's best. His hands politically unfettered by Mayor Anton J. Cermak's declaration that he was free to operate his department as he saw fit, and answerable only to the mayor, Alcock began formulating plans for the detective agency.

He first abolished the old Canalport police station, including its territory as part of the Maxwell street district. In another stroke Chief Alcock designated the abolished station as the headquarters of the new Scotland Yard.

Commissioner Alcock then announced his credo for the new department.

"No murder or other major crime will be dropped," he said. "The detail has men enough and will have time enough to stay on an investigation until it is completed. And when a case is completed, it means that the criminal or criminals have been apprehended."

Operations of the new Scotland Yard will be secret. Even the identity of the personnel will be concealed. The men must ignore trivial complaints, and concentrate only on major crimes. Like the Northwest Mounted police they must "get their man." Time is to be no concern. Only death will end pursuit. But the big and important code of the division will be "never to drop a case."

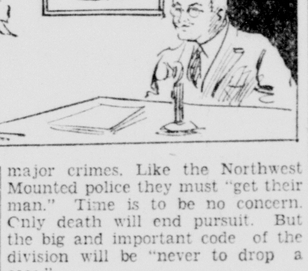
Patterned After the Original

Much of the success of the original Scotland Yard is the persistency of its quest. It has been known to bring to justice murderers after 30 years. This is to be the time pattern of its local namesake.

With Captain Schoemaker as head of the bureau, its sponsors are hopeful of actual success. His entire life has been devoted to fighting crime. As chief of detectives, he was the most feared police official. To hoodlums, and even high power gangsters, the appearance of "Shoes"—as they called him—on a case, spelled disaster.

In his new role as head of a Chicago Scotland Yard, Captain Schoemaker will be to criminals as James Whitcomb Riley's eerie goblin "who'll get you if you don't watch out."

WIFE PRESERVERS



A sheet of waxed paper laid on the bottom of the refrigerator will keep it clean. It is easier to renew the paper than to wash the ice box.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor

This Department notes with considerable pleasure that Mr. General Public who seems to have largely given up the invigorating, healthful pastime of standing on downtown corner lots and smacking a golf ball through sewer pipes has turned to another sport just as invigorating and undoubtedly as healthful.

The new sport, actually a very, very ancient one, is archery.

You can now see Mr. General Public on almost every afternoon or evening twanging a bow and shooting feathered missiles at targets placed conveniently close. The fee for this exercise is about on a par with what a round of miniature golf requires.

Archery ranges have now sprung up in almost every hamlet. They are not nearly as numerous as miniature golf courses were a year ago, but they are apparently doing at least a fair business in most spots.

Archery fills a great need for the public. Almost everyone of us, saturated with cowboy and Indian yarns in early youth, has felt the desire to grab hold of a bow and shoot some arrows. This desire is furthered by the fact that archery looks a lot easier than it is.

To indulge in this latest fad requires no bizarre garments such as plus fours, flag-hued hose and hobnailed boots. One simply consults one's purse and finding there the necessary dime or quarter, one repairs to the nearest firing range and demands the tools of war.

Euipped with five, 10 or 15 arrows and a fragile looking bow, the embryo archer, fearing to break the strange instrument, draws gingerly on the string, aims and lets go. The arrow sighs and sails into the earth two feet away. While friends roar with pleasure at the sight, one fits another arrow to the string, gives a fearful yank and fires. This time the arrow zips off at a tangent and buries itself in an auto tire a block away.

This usually ends the first lesson as motorists are notoriously unpleasant fellows who cannot see the humor of finding an arrow piercing a brand new inner tube.

Archery, if guided in the right channels, is here to stay. It can become a great boon to people interested in sport from a managerial angle.

Imagine with what perfect control a baseball pilot could conduct his nine if, while seated in the dugout, he had a good, strong bow and a plentiful supply of arrows handy. His employes, out there in the broiling sun, would perform with exceeding expertness, knowing that the first bobble might bring a wooden, feathered missile in the neighborhood of his flask pocket.

It might also be a boon to spectators viewing eighth or ninth-rate pugilists at "work". One can easily visualize the rapidity with which said palookas would shake off their lethargy along about the fifth round if the customers would begin laying down a substantial barrage.

The possibilities of expert archery work at a hoss track are immense. Each race would be run in record time if the wager makers could urge on their favorite equines as they hit the stretch with a little stinger or two.

And in less sporting circles, say at banquets where the speeches would make a statue snore—well, the good work that could be done is limitless.

Carnegie Noses Pontiacs, 5-4

Carnegie baseball team added the Pontiacs to its string of victories on Wednesday night on the Carnegie field. The score was 5 to 4.

Galento Knocks Out Christner

New Jersey Heavyweight Springs Surprise On Akron Battler

(International News Service)

DETROIT, June 11.—Tony Galento of Orange, N. J., attracted more attention today in the pugilistic world than he did yesterday.

Galento sprung a surprise here last night when he put the skids under K. O. Christner, Akron, Ohio, heavyweight, in the eighth session of a bout billed for ten rounds.

The kayo punch came all of a sudden, the bout being fought at a very slow pace with no action whatsoever for seven rounds. Tony forced Christner back into the ropes and landed a wicked right to the pit of the stomach and the Akron rubber-puddler went down like a light.

Universals Win From Hillsville

Vallely hurled consistent ball for the Universals and as a result the Universals won over the strong Hillsville nine in a Lawrence County league game played on Wednesday night. The score was 7-2.

Vallely limited the Stone Quarry nine to four hits. Should the Universals topple West Pittsburgh when they meet, the Universals will be tied for first place.

Lazzeri To Be Given Chance

Manager Joe McCarthy Will Try Lazzeri Back On Second Base

WILL NOT TRADE "WALLOPING WOP"

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 11.—Far from trading Tony Lazzeri to Washington or any other club, Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees is going to give the San Francisco Italian another chance to make good at second base, his old position.

The walloping wop from Telegraph Hill, who has been the victim of the most mystifying batting slump of the 1931 campaign, may return to the midway post during the current series with the Chicago White Sox here. He has been working out at second in morning practice recently. Used at third base most of the season, Tony has batted only .234 to date.

Leg Went Bad

"Lazzeri will be back in the game soon," said McCarthy this morning in denying a report that the one-time premier second sacker of the league would be traded to Washington for pitcher Bump Hadley and Jack Hayes, utility infielder. "His leg went bad some time ago and I had to take him out a couple of times. His leg is all right now and his arm is as strong as it was three years ago."

McCarthy, unlike Roger Peckinpaugh of Cleveland, has not given us hope of catching the league-leading Athletics.

"Mack's ten-game lead could be wiped out in ten days," says Joe optimistically. "Remember the year when the Yanks blew a thirteen-game lead? And look at Cleveland's twelve-game losing streak a while back. The same thing might happen to the A's."

Harvey Hendrick Is Heavy Hitter

Brooklyn Castoff Now With Cincinnati Is Leading Hitter In League

ROBINSON HAS NEW HEADACHE

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 11.—They say the sins of manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Robins are many and great, but he is a grand old man just the same. Indeed, he should be forgiven for everything except the overlooking of Harvey Hendrick

Since Hendrick was sent to the Cincy Reds he has proved not only a high-class fielding gentleman at first but has been leaning on the old winesap so hard he now leads the National league in hitting with a .386 rating. He batted in two runs yesterday as the Reds chased the Robins, 10 to 3. Eppa Rixey was on the mound for Cincinnati and merely toyed with the Dodgers.

Cubs Move Up

Chicago moved back into a tie with the Giants for second place in the National circuit by silencing the Phils, 3 to 0. Charley Root gave the Philadelphians only four hits and won his own game with a resounding double that scored the first run in the Cubs' three-ply drive to victory.

Larry French, Pittsburgh's left-handed menace, gloomed the Giants 5 to 1, allowing the New Yorkers three measly singles. Bennett, Buc right fielder, got three hits off the wobbling Giant hurlers.

In the only game played in the American league, Washington gained half a game on the champion Athletics as they pounded Hudlin of Cleveland, taking it 9 to 4. The Senators scored six runs in the fifth and Mr. Hudlin was forced to take a bath. Manush got a homer and two other safeties for Washington.

St. Louis suffered a severe beating at the hands of the Boston Braves, who shellacked three Cardinal pitchers for a 13 to 4 win. Old Tom Zachary gave the Cards 11 hits, but Boston gardnered 19, Maranville topping the Brave sluggers with four safeties.

West Pittsburg Tops N. Highland

One of the best games enacted on the West Pittsburg field was played on Wednesday night when the league leading West Pittsburg aggregation defeated the North Highland nine in a Lawrence County loop tilt. The score was 4-3.

West Pittsburgh scored three runs in the opening frame. North Highland came back with three runs in the fifth frame. The league leaders managed to win in the sixth inning by crossing the plate with the winning run.

Vancouver Boxer Dies Of Injuries

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11.—The Portland boxing commission will take no action in the death of Stanley Sargent, Vancouver, Wash., who died 14 hours after he was knocked out by Pete Meyers, San Francisco middleweight.

Chairman Frank J. Lonergan held the death was accidental. The boxer's head hit the floor with great force in the fifth round and he died without recovering consciousness despite an emergency operation.

CANARIES WIN GAME

The Canaries defeated the Uparetsa mushball team 12 to 10 in a game at the Washington Field on Wednesday night. Filban on the mound for the winners allowed but six hits. Lockley, G. Wyman and H. Wyman featured with home runs.

Ball Yard Banter

Waite Hoyt, who was a boy wonder 'way back when he joined the Giants and later became a first-class moundsman in the trappings of the all-conquering Yankees, may pass from big league company this season. The red-headed slabster hasn't been performing this year at anything near his former skill.

* * *

Hoyt is now on the Detroit Tigers' staff, having been sent along with Mark Koenig to the Auto City by New York in a trade in 1930.

* * *

Hoyt pitched fairly good baseball for Detroit last season and was expected to more than hold up his own this year. But he seems to have lost much of his control and speed and has been unable to win as often as he did last season when he just barely bettered an even break in games won and lost.

* * *

Though Hoyt is only 31 he is an old man as big league baseball careers are counted. He's been in baseball harness 15 seasons.

Signed by the Giants in 1916, Hoyt broke into pro ball with the Mt. Carmel Penn State league team that year. The Giants had sent the 17-year-old kid there for seasoning. His getting on the New York payroll had followed a remarkable record as a Brooklyn high school pitcher.

* * *

Hoyt was sent from Mt. Carmel to Hartford, then to Lynn. In 1917 he was sent to Memphis and Montreal.

* * *

Traded to Rochester by the Giants in 1918, Hoyt balked and turned to independent baseball after a short go hurling for Newark. Later he was sold to New Orleans, which club sold him to the Boston Red Sox. The Yanks grabbed him in 1921 and he hurled great baseball for the Gothamites. He pitched in all six Yankee world series, winning six games and losing three.

Universals Are In Second Place

West Pittsburg Continues To Lead County League With Eight Victories

One of the best games of the season is expected to be played on Saturday afternoon when the league leading West Pittsburg aggregation plays the Universal nine on the Universal field.

Should the Universals defeat West Pittsburg there will be a deadlock for first place honors. If West Pittsburg trims the Universals the West Pittsburg team will be sitting on top again.

In the other contests scheduled for Saturday, Wampum meets the Scarazzos at Centennial field at 3 o'clock. Hillsville will be the attraction at Brent and the Shenango will play at North Highland. Bessemer will be idle.

Tree Bears Very Beautiful Flower

May Be Seen On Barnett Property On Neshannock Avenue

On the Barnett property, 446 Neshannock avenue, there is a rare but native tree of this section of the country, which bears a remarkably beautiful flower and is at the present time filled with these blooms. The flowers resemble the water lily in appearance and the tree is known as the Tulip tree.

The tree in question is quite mature and some fifty or more feet in height and the blooms are up among the foliage of the tree and at a considerable height from the ground.

Nature seems to have provided the tree with a means of protecting its beautiful blossoms, according to C. S. Barnett, who had considerable difficulty in obtaining a few.

The protection is for the most part in the fact that the color scheme of the flowers are of such a character that a person may stand directly under the tree and look up and yet not be able to discern the blooms because of the colors being much the same as the foliage. The flower is said to be the state flower of Indiana and is well worthy of such an honor.

According to Mr. Barnett, the services of long ladders of the fire department are really necessary in order to obtain the blossoms with any degree of safety.

WHAT is the best tire made?

After all, conversation aside, that's what you really want to know, isn't it?

For with rubber prices where they are today, you certainly can afford to buy the best.

It's natural, of course, that every tire manufacturer should try to convince you his tire is best.

But if you want to cut through a welter of words to get the real low-down, listen to the 20 million car owners of the country.

They give the palm to Goodyear.

For 16 consecutive years it has been true that "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

Moreover through an impartial institution, in no way connected with the rubber industry, 205,000 car owners were asked this point-blank question:

QUESTION: "Regardless of price, convenience, etc., what make of tire do you consider the BEST tire made?"

HOW CAR OWNERS VOTED ON THE QUESTION
"WHAT TIRE IS BEST?"
. . . . . Based on a National Tire Survey in 1930 by a large University . . . .

If you are technical by nature and want to know the WHY of Goodyear superiority, call and let us demonstrate. We can quickly dispel your last vestige of doubt.

And best of all, we give you good news on prices. A few of which we quote here.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO BUY THE LEADING MAKE OF TIRE

NEW YORK STOCKS

Slightly Higher Range In Stock Prices Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Under the lead of the Amusement stocks and Specialties, the market moved into a slightly higher range of prices in the early trading today.

Fox Film responded briskly to the over-night report of the election of a powerful and influential board of directors composed of leading bankers and industrialists in New York and other financial centers. The dividend "news" was good, the stock having been put on a $2.50 annual basis, with the prospect held out of the return to a $4 basis by the end of the year. Selling at 20½, Fox Film showed a new gain of 3 points and a 7-point recovery from the low of last week. Loews, Paramount and other theatrical stocks rose a point or less, and further improvements was recorded in Amusement bonds.

New York Central carried its new recovery to 85⅞, up about 2 points, in further response to the retaining of the 6 per cent dividend by the directors. New Haven, Southern Pacific and other leading rails sold higher. The Industrials were blocked by a flood of selling orders, and after recording slightly higher prices in the first half hour the whole list fell back to lower levels. It was a "traders' market," with alternating backward and forward swings of the favorites, through a narrow price range and in gradually diminishing volume.

Southern Railway fell off 3 points to 29 on announcement by the directors that upon payment of the August dividend, no more dividends would be paid this year. Heretofore the road has paid at the rate of $8 per share annually

Little change was noted in the Commodity markets. Cotton was firm and Grain slightly lower. Call money was unchanged.

Of Course It's Cool

A mere man might think that a heavy scarf of platinum fox, like the one pictured worn by Frances Dee, screen player, was warm, but no woman would think so. It's too becoming to be uncomfortable. It is worn with a suit of dull pink romain.

Improvement Program Being Steadily Worked Out At Rentz 'Y, Camp

With registrations already a daily occurrence, the Fred L. Rentz Y. M. C. A. camp will soon be prepared for one of the most successful summer vacation seasons since the 26 acres of land were first used as a vacation land.

A visit to the acres which, included an inspection of the Katydid lodge, the swimming hole, tennis lot, kitchen, a view of the three-acre island included in the camp and other property proved that the camp is undergoing a gradual development since the property was acquired and planned for a boys' camp.

The camp, the directors assure the vistors, is still in the stages of development. It can be planned and built, addition after addition, with perpetual improvements for years before the directors stop in their work of making it one of the finest vacation spots in this part of the state. As each season arrives additional improvements are contemplated and completed.

Last year saw the plan of planting shrubbery realized. Dozens of plants, the presentation of Jake Rentz, were carefully planted about the entrance gate and also in the heart of the camp. R. L. Meermans, "Y" secretary, points with pride to his latest achievement. When fully grown the shrubbery will give the location a more formal appearance and at the same time lend an aspect of seclusion to the grounds.

Other developments include the electrification of the camp, a matter that is not too far distant. Already electric light pole markers have been placed in the ground.

A cable bridge, to connect the mainland of the camp to the beautiful island which stands midway between the main creek and a babbling tributary, has been promised by Robert J. Tully, superintendent of the Carnegie Steel company and the president of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors.

Although plans of development on this island are still too far distant because the improvements are at present centered about the main part of the camp, the isle, if properly leveled, improved and furnished with a lodge or other building for shelter, would become an attraction for young and old alike.

This island shows promise of beauty. Now roughly wooded, filled with trees, it can still offer a beautiful refuge for the vacationist.

Mr. Meermans looks on this island as a future picnic ground or recreation center for parents who come to visit their sons at the camp.

Another innovation which is expected to take place this year is the digging of the creek bed to provide a better swimming place for the boys. If plans are carried out the operations would include the damming of a portion of the main stream.

The approach to the camp from the Slippery Rock road is now being leveled and hardened by county road caretakers.

On June 22 the preparations for the camp will begin in full swing so that when the boys of the first camping section, those between the ages of 10 and 13, flock into the grounds on July 6 everything will be in readiness for them.

However, boys will not be the first to use the grounds. Mention has already been made by Miss Eleanor Drury, county farm economics worker, that 90 girls representing 4-H clubs in Lawrence, Crawford, Mercer, Beaver, Armstrong and Erie counties will invade the camp on the 29th of June for a week's training in leadership work.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There are plenty of things to do on a June evening, more interesting than a school board meeting, but unfortunately none quite so important and this explains last night's entire party. The boys and girls who run the schools of the city got together for a little while, just until 12:30 or thereabouts and in the interim between opening and closing passed a lot of motions, spent a lot of money, laid plans for the coming summer, and adjourned.

Happened up into the sun parlor of the Jameson Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon and stepped right from the elevator into what appeared to be a Ladies Aid or a Dorcas Society. Fifteen or twenty women were busy running sewing machines, plying needles and thread, and doing very little talking.

Service like that gets little publicity, and perhaps is known by all too few. It's a service that is important to the hospital and the community, and as far as this colyum is concerned, I want the ladies to know that their work is appreciated.

Most of us slight our hospitals. We take them for granted, expecting them to function instantly and efficiently when we need them, but giving them little of our attention or money between times.

No hospital is self supporting. It can't be because of the peculiar service it renders. It takes money in the form of subscriptions and endowments and other forms of aid to keep it out of the red, and running a hospital is a constant war against red ink.

All of us owe something to hospitals. If you never used one you can be thankful, but remember that its battle against disease may be the reason why you never needed one. Take the hospitals out of a community and see what happens.

And so if the ladies will take this little note of appreciation for their unselfishness in working up there yesterday, making garments, they are more than welcome. You can't buy that kind of service, it has to come from the heart.

Friday night of this week, which happens to be tomorrow night on The News calendar, the Croton M. E. is sponsoring a track and field meet up at the Taggart Stadium. Twelve churches will have entries in the meet and the going is going to be keen.

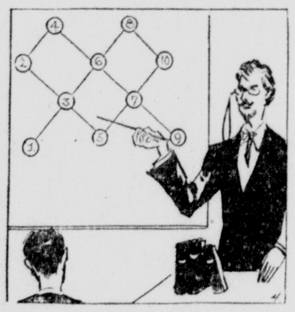
It's a smart idea, that of the Croton Methodists in sponsoring such a thing and could very easily lead to a district meet with all the churches in Lawrence, Mercer, Beaver and Butler counties participating.

If you have time, drive out tomorrow night. You may not see Rev. Joshua tossing the hammer, but he throws a mean adjective. Rev. Sam Maxwell, who pastors up at the Epworth church was at one time more than ordinary basketball player but building a new church may have driven athletic ideas out of his head for the moment.

Rev. Sam was a star basketball player for Allegheny College in the days when Allegheny was taking them all, big and little. In the past few years things have been different.

Laurel boulevard is beginning to take on a snappy appearance. A few more days and it will be ready for use. Then comes the job of beautifying the grass boulevards between the concrete. With some attention, Laurel boulevard will be the prettiest street in the city. And without attention it can become one of the worst looking.

Puzzlers



This teacher has given his pupils a tricky problem to sharpen their wits. He has told them to draw this diagram on a sheet of paper, then place two white counters on the points 1 and 2, and two red counters on 9 and 10. The puzzle is to make the red and white change places, moving the counters one at a time in any order you like along the lines. A red and white counter, however, must never stand on the same straight line. Thus the first move can only be from 1 or 2 to 3, or from 9 or 10 to 7.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

THE GRANULATED HARD-WATER SOAP
Rinso
for whiter washes

AND

(Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this.)
"Creamy suds in a jiffy!" says Mrs. T. Griffith, of Dewey Ave.

"I always feel a little glow of pride when I hang out my snowy Rinso wash — whiter than the whitest wash I ever got the old-fashioned way! And my colored things, so bright and new-looking! Rinso's thick, lasting suds soak out the dirt. Lately I've been using Rinso for dishes and all cleaning. A little gives a lot of creamy suds, instantly — even in our hard water." MRS. TREVOR GRIFFITH, 1030½ Dewey Ave., New Castle, Pa.

"Safe!" say makers of leading machines
The makers of 40 leading washing machines recommend Rinso for safety and for whiter clothes. You can trust your finest cottons and linens to Rinso's creamy suds.

Great for tub washing. Soaks clothes whiter than they can be scrubbed. Saves boiling, too. Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. No softener needed, even in hardest water! Get the BIG package. Try it for dishes.
